A Wise Young Prince
$1,000,000? Not Enough
Pluto Celebrates
To Kill or Not To Kill

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

WISE MAN is the young Prince of Wales, now traveling with his brother in South America to promote sales of British goods. Speaking of American methods, he told fellow citizens and future subjects some time ago that they must learn to "adopt, adapt and improve", the best methods everywhere.

Now, opening today a "British exposition" in Buenos Aires, the prince, complaining that the exhibition has not been sufficiently advertised, orders publicity experts to advertise the affair as an All-South American exhibition, and to advertise extensively.

Two things make success: First, having what the people want; second, letting them know, through advertising, that you have it. The prince knows that.

IT IS ANNOUNCED that G. W. Hill, as a bonus for his year's work as head of a great tobacco company, got $1,000,000 worth of stock. His competitors in that industry will agree that he didn't get enough.

All business men are interested in the fact that Mr. Hill's extraordinary success is based on the fact that he attends personally and in minutest detail to DISTRIBUTION, which means ADVERTISING.

The problem of production has been solved. The big eternal problem that will endure forever is that of distribution, that of SALESMANSHIP. Anybody can MAKE cigarets—not everybody can sell them by the billions.

THE NEW PLANET, PLUTO, now celebrates the first anniversary of its discovery by earth dwellers, which probably makes little difference to Pluto's inhabitants, if there are any. Its birthday would violently interest the late Dr. Percival Lowell, distinguished astronomer, who announced Pluto's existence, and foretold its position in the heavens, as Halley, long ago, foretold the return of the comet named for him.

The comet came back after Halley was dead, and Pluto was discovered after Lowell was dead.

AFTER 61 YEARS without executing a criminal, Kansas prepares to restore capital punishment. Criminals have brought this upon themselves with too many murders.

But Kansas will let juries decide on capital punishment or life imprisonment. It is not probable that many juries would vote for death.

In Michigan, after more than 100 years without infliction of the death penalty, a referendum will decide on restoring death. The legislature has apropriated funds for an electric chair. Why not buy a rope, if the state must imitate the murderer? It costs less and, unlike the electric chair, it is not an insult to science.

STATE TAKES OVER MARION SAVINGS BANK

Action To Protect Depositors Taken at Request of Board of Directors.

FROZEN ASSETS BLAMED

Operations Cease and State Department Agents Take Charge Today.

Acting to protect the interests of depositors, the board of directors of the Marion Savings Bank Co. last night asked the state banking department to take over the institution.

The bank did not open this morning. A notice signed by F. J. Fulton, state banking superintendent, was placed on the door saying that the bank had been taken over at the request of the board.

A. C. Krueg of the state bank liquidating department was placed in temporary charge of the bank's affairs. It was announced at Columbus that C. C. Stevenson will take permanent charge later.

Statement Issued

The board of directors of the bank issued a formal statement to the public today, as follows:

"Owing to economic conditions and the depressed market of real estate and the wide extent of unemployment, the Board of Directors of the Marion Savings Bank company of Marion, Ohio, have deemed it advisable to have the State Banking department take charge of its affairs.

"It is not believed the depositors will suffer any material loss. A committee has been appointed looking towards a reorganization of the institution."

H. F. Ashley, assistant state bank superintendent who has been in Marion since last Tuesday conferring with the bank's officers, this morning said frozen assets caused the directors to ask the state department to take over the bank's affairs.

In a more complete statement issued by the state banking department at Columbus today the closing was reported to be du to low reserve, dwindling assets and frozen loans.

The next week will be taken up by auditing of the bank's records to determine its condition at the time the state department took it over, Ashley said. When the audit is completed the state will ask all depositors to have their books balanced and file official claims for settlement of the bank's affairs.

Conference Held

Directors and officers of the bank met last night with representatives of the state banking department. Various methods of protecting depositors were discussed, and it was decided to have the state superintendent wind up the affairs.

It will take some time for complete liquidation of the bank's assets. Slow movement of loans and notes led to a shortage of funds to pay the bank's liabilities.

Details of Last Statement

According to the last report of the bank's condition issued Dec. 31, 1930, the deposits of the bank totaled $343,364.56. The bank was organized March 2, 1901, with capital stock of $50,000. The total of resources was placed at $519,953.71 in the last report. Loans on real estate totaled $170,449.43, loans on collateral, $32,499.41 and other loans and discounts, $178,866.90. The surplus fund of the bank was placed at $5,000.

Although he was unable to present definite figures on the total amount of deposits when the bank closed yesterday, Ashley said it would vary only slightly from the amount listed in the last published report.

C. E. Merkel is president and S. H. DeLong is cashier of the bank.

World's Deadliest Known Poison Found in Africa

By International News Service

CAPETOWN, South Africa, March 14—The world's deadliest known poison, so potent that a single drop is sufficient to kill 10,000 adults and a whiff will prove fatal, has been discovered in a Transvaal bulb, it was revealed today by the Burger, government organ.

Because of its exceptionally fatal powers, the government decided to keep manufacture of the poison a secret. The scientific name of the bulb of deadliest qualities is "Adenia"

FRAUD TRIAL GOES TO JURY

Cardington Man Charged with Theft of Insurance Company Funds.

Special To The Star

MT. GILEAD, March 14 — The case of the state against O. C. Romans former secretary of the Morrow County Farmers Mutual Insurance Co., on charges of embezzlement went to the jury shortly after noon today. Two character witnesses, Dr. W. D. Moccabee and Mayor Frank Allige were placed on the stand at the opening of court this morning and the remainder of the session was given over to the arguments of the counsel and the special instructions of Judge W. P. Vaughan.

Judge Vaughan ruled yesterday afternoon that an auditor's statement, allegedly signed by Romans after the audit of the books was completed in August 1930, was not admissible as it went back beyond the time of the shortages charged in the indictment. Romans resigned as secretary of the Morrow County Farmers Mutual Insurance company of Cardington when the audit was completed and the shortages discovered

Takes Stand

Romans went on the stand in his own defense Friday and testified that the statement of the auditors showed a larger shortage than was actually the case. He also claimed that the overdraws of salary and the fees due the company from him had been paid by means of a note made to the company by him and secured by a chattel mortgage on his farm property and livestock which was later sold to pay this and claims of other creditors. This was the only shortage admitted by him and the defense claims that he cannot be prosecuted criminally for it after he has made restitution. The state introduced witnesses who testified that the note given by Romans for $3,000 was not in payment of the salary overdrawn but that it was given on account to apply to the total shortage which at that time was of an undetermined amount.

Defense witnesses called Friday included Mrs. Grace Romans and a number of character witnesses, J. G. Mills, Dr. H. B. Campbell, I. C. Stearns, J. W. Glauner and H. H. Curl. Charles H. Long, a director of the company testified to examining the books in three different years without finding anything wrong with them. The case is expected to go to the jury today.

POLICE SPUR SEARCH FOR WOMAN'S SLAYER

Cleveland Has Two Murders in Five Hours; One Man Is Arrested.

By International News Service.

CLEVELAND, O., March 14—With the apprehension of Leo Yaratch, 25, accused slayer of his wife, Mrs. Marguerite Yaratch, 28, detectives today intensified their efforts in the search for the assailant of Miss Betty Lee Calloway, 25, the second woman murder victim reported to police in the short space of five hours.

Miss Calloway, her skull fractured and her left eye gouged out apparently in a fiendish attack, died this morning at Charity hospital a short time after she had been identified.

Yaratch was arrested by police 18 hours after he allegedly shot his wife through lungs and fractured her neck, leaving her lifeless body in a street a few blocks from their home.

Detectives found Yaratch near his home last night. He admitted shooting his wife to death late Thursday night, but asserted the killing was accidental, police said

Police said Yaratch declared the shot which killed his wife was accidentally discharged during a struggle which followed his attempts to force her to take back his wedding ring.

Mrs. Yaratch, whose two previous marriages had ended in divorce, had filed a divorce petition against her third husband.

FIND BODY OF FARMER UNDER WRECKED CAR

C. W. Luthy, 63, Bucyrus, Fatally Injured While Walking Along Road.

DIES IN MONNETT HOSPITAL

Man Hit as Driver Swerves To Avoid Collision with Another Auto.

Special To The Star

BUCYRUS, March 14—When he happened to be walking in the path of an automobile driven off the highway to avoid striking another car, C. W. Luthy, 63, prominent Crawford county farmer was killed last night.

The accident occurred on the Mansfield-Bucyrus road, a quarter of a mile east of the Bucyrus golf course, shortly after 8:30 p. m. yesterday. Luthy died a few minutes later in Monnett Memorial hospital.

Was Walking Along Road

Luthy is believed to have been walking along the road near his home to give assistance in pulling a wrecked automobile from the ditch, when the fatal accident occurred.

A tow car had just removed the wrecked automobile from the ditch as Luthy approached. Another automobile driven by Sid Hammerman of Bucyrus approached and suddenly swerved into the ditch to avoid a collision with the wreck car. Luthy's body was found under Hammerman's car in the ditch.

Find Body Under Car

Hammerman and three companions, C. S. Taylor and Ellsworth Carle of Bucyrus, and George Meinhart of Middleport, were driving toward Mansfield when the headlights of the wreck car suddenly loomed in front of them on the highway, they report. To avoid the collision, Hammerman drove his car into the ditch, he said. That Luthy's body had been pinned under the car was not learned until the automobile was removed.

Luthy was identified by his son-in-law, C. B. Durr. James Gerster, 18, of Bucyrus, was the driver of the automobile being pulled from the ditch by the wreck car. He was slightly injured when his car left the road before the fatal crash.

A widow and one daughter, Mrs. C. B. Durr, survive Luthy. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Stuckert is investigating the accident.

CANAL COMMITTEE NAMED BY WHYSALL

Group Will Determine Public Sentiment on Proposed Waterway Project.

A committee to determine public sentiment in Marion toward the proposed Great Lakes-Ohio River waterway connecting Sandusky and Portsmouth has been appointed by George Whysall, chairman of a Chamber of Commerce committee interested in bringing the waterway through Marion county.

Whysall will head the committee, and will be assisted by T. R. Cook, F. E. Guthery, O. W. Kinnamon, R. H. Knecht, A. W. Newby, Carl Schell and C. H. Tozzer, secretary.

While the committee is feeling the pulse of public opinion toward the proposed waterway, H. G. Curtis, of the Great Lakes and Ohio Riverway association, will present a series of stories through The Marion Star explaining the proposed waterway in detail. He will explain the project and the results if it is built through Marion county.

Only two proposed routes for the canal will be considered by federal engineers, officials of the association believe. One of the routes passes through Marion county, connecting Sandusky and Portsmouth. The other joins the lakes and the river at Pittsburgh and Ashtabula.

125 RETURN TO WORK

PORTSMOUTH, O., March 14—The Portsmouth Clay Products company of South Webster has recalled 125 employes who have been idle.

FAMED BEAUTY IN TRAGEDY

Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger, of Philadelphia (inset), owner of a string of theaters in the United States, was shot and killed by his wife, the former Charlotte Nash (above) in their apartment at Nice Wednesday. Thus ended a romance that started in 1923, when Charlotte Nash walked down the boardwalk at Atlantic City, N. J., as "Miss St. Louis," and was later wooed and won by Nirdlinger, the guiding genius of the beauty pageant.

Under no circumstances will Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger be released without a jury trial, the examining magistrate said at Nice, France, this morning, according to an Associated Press report. She will be brought before the ordinary session of the court of assizes which does not meet until August, the magistrate said. The killing resulted from false accusation made by her husband because of unjustifiable jealousy, Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger says.

4 JOLIET CONVICTS WOUNDED IN RIOT

By The Associated Press

JOLIET, Ill., March 14 — Four convicts were wounded, two seriously, and one guard suffered a broken arm in a riot at the 75-year-old state penitentiary at noon today. Prison guards quelled the mutiny after the dining room and kitchen had been wrecked.

The outbreak occurred in the dining hall when 1,100 prisoners refused to return to their cells after luncheon.

A chorus of boos and catcalls gave warning of the riot, and the 25 guards in the hall sent an alarm that brought reserves from every part of the prison.

Prison Officer Attacked

Three convicts attacked Captain B. A. Davenport at the door and were beating him severely when they were felled by shots from other guards. Davenport's arm was broken in the attack.

The prisoners, although unarmed, held control of the hall and 60 rushed into the kitchen, wrecking it thoroughly. The rest of the 1,100, more passive, were herded meanwhile into their cell blocks but refused to allow themselves to be locked into their own cells. Shots fired over the heads sent them to cover, however, and one prisoner was wounded by a ricocheted bullet.

The sixty men after smashing everything in the kitchen, returned to the dining hall and demolished tables, chairs and fixtures, throwing furniture through windows.

Mobilized guards finally subdued the ring leaders and 43 men were locked up in solitary confinement pinioned to irons by arms and legs.

RURAL SCHOOL MEN FORM ORGANIZATION

Expect New Group To Demand Investigation of County Systems.

Request for a legislative investigation of the administration of county schools throughout the state today was expected to follow an indignation meeting of rural school board men in Columbus which yesterday resulted in the organization of the "Ohio Association of Rural Schools," according to International News Service dispatches.

Members of township school boards in 25 Ohio counties, including Marion county, aligned themselves in a campaign which they hope will free them from the jurisdiction of county school boards and county school superintendents.

LaRue Man Elected

A Marion county resident, and a Kenton man are among officers of the association. A. W. Jones of LaRue is a member of the executive committee, and C. E. Wharton of Kenton is secretary and treasurer.

Jones has been identified with a movement in Marion county to organize 2,000 rural residents into a Taxpayers League of Marion county which has attacked the office of county superintendent in several meetings as a means of decreasing taxes.

Wharton has been recruiting members for similar organizations in Hardin and surrounding counties, and is expected to give an address before Marion county residents in the near future.

Officials of the Association indicated that they will support the bill already before the assembly by which all school officials and em-

JAMES H. VAUGHAN IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Veteran Marion Printer and Publisher Stricken with Sudden Illness.

James H. Vaughan, 83, one of Marion's oldest active printers, was in a critical condition at noon today at his home at 323 North State street. Little hope was held for his recovery from illness with which he was stricken yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Vaughan for the last 30 years has had the Vaughan Printing shop at 122 Court street, with his son Jay Vaughan as a partner for the last 24 years.

He was at one time owner and publisher of the Marion Mirror, and the Marion County Democrat. The present company is housed in the building formerly offices of The Democrat.

Special to The Star.

MARENGO, March 14—Double funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the home two and one-half miles southwest of here for Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Sherman whose deaths occurred within a few hours of each other Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman spent practically all their 60 years of married life on the farm on which they died which also was the birthplace of Mr. Sherman. Mrs. Sherman was also a life resident of the community.

Mr. Sherman was aged 90 years, two months and 10 days and his wife was aged 81 years, two months and 13 days. Mr. Sherman preceded his wife in death only a few hours.

Surviving are the following children: Dr. E. C. Sherman of Cardington, Clifton G. Sherman of Fargo, Leslie Sherman at home, Mrs. William Chambers of near Olive Green and Mrs. Olive Crowl of Marengo. Twelve grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren also survive.

Interment will be made in the cemetery at Fulton.

Elephant, Lion Prove Dangerous for Visitor

By The Associated Press

MARION, Ill., March 14—Guy Estell Pierce went to the circus, which is quartered here for the winter.

They were giving the elephant a bath. The big animal reached down, filled his trunk with water and began to spray. Guy jumped back to get out of line of the water. As he did so a lion reached his paws through the bars of the cage and grabbed him.

Guy freed himself by wriggling out of his coat and a doctor patched up his injuries.

His condition is not serious.

PLAN FOR FIGHT ON N. Y. MAYOR

Charges Against Walker Due for Filing Next Week.

AFTER INQUIRY OF YEAR

Prominent Citizens To Carry Accusations to Governor Roosevelt.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 14—As the result of a year's investigation, the city affairs committee will file with Governor Roosevelt next week charges of incompetence, neglect and indifference against Mayor Walker.

John Haynes Holmes, chairman of the committee, a civilian body, said that Henry Rosner, research secretary, had quietly been assembling the material on which the accusations will be based. Mr. Holmes and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, vice chairman, personally will present them.

Under the state public office act, the governor may accept or reject the charges. If he accepts, he may investigate them himself or appoint a commissioner or the attorney general to act for him. If the charges are substantiated, he may remove the mayor.

Crain Protests

District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain has made a move to combat accusations made against him by the City club. He protested in a letter to the governor the appointment of Commissioner Samuel Seabury as his judge on the grounds that the latter is a member of the City club and already has criticized him on several occasions.

The New York Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, representing a hundred churches, has added its voice to the demand for a thorough investigation of city government. It adopted a resolution upholding the action of the Greater New York Federation of Churches in calling for a non-partisan, city-wide inquiry.

Prominent individuals who have joined the movement include Chancellor Ellsworth Brown of New York university, Professor John Dewey of Columbia university and Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey and a close friend of the governor.

McLaughlin Does Well

The Magistrates' courts inquiry produced evidence yesterday that the vice squad patrolman Andrew G. McLaughlin, arrested in the death of Vivian Gordon, slain Broadway blackmailer, banked $35,800 in two years on an annual salary of $3,000. Answering a citation for contempt of court, he refused to answer on the ground that Referee Seabury was exceeding his authority but bank records showed his deposits.

Looking Ahead

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. March 14—Good many papers are poking fun at these "Progressives" who have been meeting in Washington.

Well, those are the fellows that are going to run next year's government. Neither Republicans nor Democrats can even get excused to go get a drink without the "Progressives" (the balance of power) sanctioning it.

Be a good joke on both parties if these fellows had been right all these years and get a chance to prove it. You watch this young La Follette. You are going to have a lot of dealings with him in years to come.

One thing these Progressives won't have to be very good to be the best.

VISIT TO CITY ON SCHEDULE OF 8 TALKS

President Will Dedicate Harding Tomb on Trip Through Central West.

WILL REVIEW G. A. R. VETS

June 16 Likely To Be Date Picked for Ceremony at Memorial.

Dedication of Harding Memorial June 16 is included in a list of eight speaking engagements of President Hoover, in April, May and June, according to Associated Press reports on White House announcements today.

Apparently virtual assurance that the date for the dedication will be June 16, as agreed on by officials of the Harding Memorial association and White House authorities Wednesday, is seen in the schedule of speaking dates.

To Review G. A. R.

By adhering to original plans to appear here June 16, President Hoover also plans to attend and review the Ohio State encampment of the G. A. R. in Columbus. His Columbus appearance is scheduled for the forenoon of June 16, and the Marion dedication will follow in the afternoon.

The list of speeches tentatively outlined included one before the Pan-American Union in Washington on April 15; an address before the International Chamber of Commerce in Washington on May 4; before a convention celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the Red Cross in Washington on May 21; May 30 at Valley Forge; June 15, before the Indiana Republican Editorial association at Indianapolis; June 16, address dedicating Harding memorial at Marion; June 17, address dedicating Lincoln's tomb at Springfield.

May Visit West

Announcement was made that no plans had been formulated for a proposed trip to California and the west late in the summer. Reference was made in this connection to the trip through western national parks which the President planned last year but which was cancelled because of demands on the chief executive caused by the drouth.

The program of addresses formulated is the most extensive since Mr. Hoover became President. It was pointed out, however, that they will not add any extraordinary burden upon him because four are to be made in Washington.

THROWS 3 CHILDREN IN OCEAN TO DROWN

Massachusetts Mother Then Jumps to Death; One Boy Saves Self.

By The Associated Press

MATTAPOISETT, Mass., March 14—Mrs. William Chester Allison of Bayleaville, R. I., last night hurled her three children from a Mattapoisett dock and jumped into the ocean to her death after them.

Wayne Allison, 9, who was found dripping wet and exhausted a mile from the dock, told the story to the state police. The lad said his mother had taken him, his sister, Hope, 6, and his baby brother, De Witt, 3, to the dock on the pretense of showing them the New York boat. She hurled them into the water, he said, as they stepped to the edge of the wharf, and then jumped in herself.

Wayne, unable to swim, clung to rocks beneath the wharf and pulled himself ashore. The vicinity was deserted and the boy started to walk for help. Ralph Purrington found him on the street and called a constable, Sylvester Savage, who heard the exhausted and frightened lad's story.

The boy was wrapped in bed at Purrington's home in New Bedford and state police began a search for the bodies of the brother, sister, and mother. They had not been recovered after several hours of grappling.

The husband and father, who learned of the tragedy on his return from work yesterday, started for Mattapoisett immediately.

Friends of the family said Mrs. Allison had been despondent for several weeks.

Piqua Minister Held on Charge of Delinquency

By International News Service

TROY, O., March 14—Despite contentions that he was the victim of a "frame-up," the Rev. Roger A. White, Piqua minister, today was held under $200 bond here on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a 16-year-old orphan girl who for the past two years had been residing with the minister's family as a ward.

Previous to his arrest, rumors of Rev. White's alleged misconduct had stirred up a group of irate men who gathered to seek vengeance, according to county authorities. A former county official [illegible] quaded them to disperse peacefully.

Eighth Grade Students in Cast for Operetta

"The Tea House of Sing Lo" Presented in Auditorium by Pupils of Central Junior High School; Large Audience Witnesses Play.

"The Tea House of Sing Lo," a operetta, was presented by the eighth grade of Central Junior High school at the school auditorium last night. Miss Isabelle Stump and Hamer Mitchell directed the presentation

The theme of the operetta concerned the poor business of the tea house due to the conversatism of its owner, Sing Lo. Sing Lo who detests modern advertising methods, mistook Bert McKee, a salesman for Sho-Glo electric signs, for the American consul and proceeds to entertain him loyally. McKee fell in love with June, daughter of J. Mortimer Maxwell, owner of the Sho-Glo signs, and was required to sell Sing Lo on the idea of modern advertising before Maxwell would consent to the marriage between the two.

Mary LeMasters played the part of June, while Oliver Rowley was cast in part of Bert McKee. The rest of the cast follows: Ah Mee, Jane Wires; So Hi, Esther Hanawalt; No Fan, William Hagan; Sing Lo, Frederic Hoch; J. Mortimer Maxwell, Kenneth Jerew, Mrs. Maxwell, Esther Shackleford, and the Honorable Alexander Appletree, the American consul, Hubert Goerlich

The members of the chorus that took part in production follows: sopranos, Ruth Carrier, Ruth Swope, Yvonne Cory, Mary J. Houseworth, Vivian Albert, Lucille Haskell and Marlowe Witt; altos, Maxine Camp, Janis Jones, Betty J. Leib, Juanita Lyon, Dorothy J. Elliott, Ruth Martin, William Lee, Virgil Geer and Morgan Parker; baritones, Clyde Smith, Eugene Price, Junior Powell, Dana Westervelt, Walter Ruzzo, Burl Pollock and George Wall.

Members of the orchestra that played for the operetta were Frederick Myers, John Lee, John Uncapher and Isabelle Kelley, violins; Harold Wendler and John Craner, clarinets; Isabelle Black, flute; Harold Markin and Orus Wetzel, cornets; James Sautter, trombone; Helen Burns, saxaphone, Wilma Hart and Donna Biggert, drums, and Earl Bechtle and Dorothy Wilds, pianists.

Landon Bible Class Meets at Harder Home

Twenty-four members of the Landon Bible class of the Lee Street Presbyterian church met last night with Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Harder at their home on East Church street. The time was spent with games and music. In a business session plans were made to assist in purchasing new hymn books for the Sunday school. Miss Doris George was elected secretary and treasurer of the class, succeeding Miss Esther Herriot. Norris E. Crissinger, a guest, talked to the class on recreational baseball for the coming season. Refreshments were served by the hostess. Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades McCoy will entertain April 3 at their home on Avondale avenue.

New Scout Executive To Organize Leaders

Scout leaders of Marion district will meet with the new scout executive Arthur S. Brooks, at a dinner meeting Monday night to discuss problems before the district.

One of the most important issues to be brought up is the organization of a scout leaders training school sometime in April. Brooks plans to make this school a valuable asset to men interested in working with young boys in scouting.

The meeting has been called for 6:30 p. m. at the Y. M .C. A.

Prospect Aid Society Holds Regular Meeting

PROSPECT, March 14 — The Ladies' Missionary Aid society of the St. Paul's Lutheran church met at the home of Mrs. Charles Reithmaier Thursday afternoon. In the absence of the leader the meeting was in charge of Rev. Paul Dobberstein who talked on "The Work of the Woman's Missionary society in the foreign field."

The topic of the lesson was "The Enlargement of the Foreign Mission Field." The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Samuel Smith with Mrs. Samuel Almendinger, leader

12 Persons in Court on Traffic Charges Here

Twelve persons violated Marion traffic rules this week; according to traffic court records. Six were excused, five were assessed fines when they failed to appear in court. One came in and was fined.

Four tickets were given motorists for parking in zones designated for "no parking." Four others were charged with alley parking. One was charged with driving with bright lights, another with no muffler. Two answered charges of obstructing the street.

Marion Man Held by Columbus Police

A Negro giving his name and address as Carl Granger, 43, of Marion, was being held by Columbus authorities today on a charge of unlawful possession of liquor, according to Associated Press dispatches.

Granger was questioned with another Negro, Dinks Broady, 37, of Columbus, in connection with the shooting of Sylvester Schafhausen during a holdup. When authorities failed to connect the men with the holdup, liquor charges were filed.

New BUICK EIGHTS

. . you get all these advantages

New Valve-in-Head Straight Eight Engine

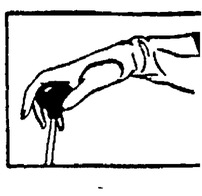

. . . with Oil Temperature Regulator

The famous Buick Valve-in-Head principle applied to straight eight engine design results in remarkable smoothness, agility and power. Furthermore the Oil Temperature Regulator warms the engine oil instantly on the coldest days, and maintains the proper temperature at high speeds, no matter how warm the weather may be. This further assures the stamina and reliability which have made Buick America's favored fine car for more than a quarter century.

New Silent Syncro-Mesh Transmission

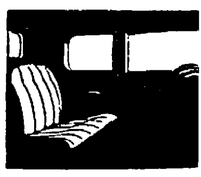

With Buick Syncro-Mesh, now standard equipment on all Buick models, everybody becomes an expert at shifting gears silently, quickly, without clash. Moreover, you can shift instantly to second in emergencies, using the engine for extra braking power on steep hills and thus retaining complete control of the car.

New Insulated Bodies by Fisher

Owing to their popularity, the present models of 1931 Buick Straight Eights will be continued throughout the coming summer and fall.

All closed models of the new Buick Eight have Bodies by Fisher of truly impressive style. Not only are they spacious, beautifully upholstered and charmingly appointed, but they are skilfully insulated like the finest homes, to exclude heat, cold and noise.

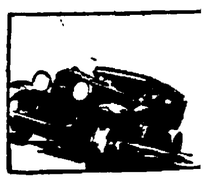

New Torque Tube Drive

22 models priced from $1025 to $2035 F. O. B. Flint, Mich.

Torque Tube, a feature of many of the most expensive motor cars, is found in every Buick Eight. It relays driving power from the rear wheels to the frame, assuring positive wheel alignment and uniform brake action. As a result, Buick travel is extremely smooth and steady at all speeds.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing motor car values.

Butler Belongs to War

... to see Smedley Butler ... ease as he did. You know that fellow just belongs in a war all the time. He dont belong in Peace time. He is what I would call a natural born Warrior. He will fight anybody, anytime. But he just cant distinguish Peace from war. He carries every medal we ever gave out. He has two Congressional Medals of Honor, the only man that ever got em a double header. You give him another war and he will get him another one. I dont know him, never met him. But I do admire him. He is a mighty useful man in a war, and as we are always having em why I consider him a very valuable man.

We are liable to scare him up something before long. We are looking around now to see where we can get in one worth while someplace. Even our Scouts for the Marines are having trouble locating places for them to go, this is about the first time that they havent been employed. We are even getting tired of continually fighting with Nicaraguans. We always have to take them on when there is no bigger bait. But I see where we are supposed to come out of there.

What other scandal we got? Oh yes Aimee's daughter married the Purser on the boat that they went to the Orient on. I kinder thought Aimee would grab off that Captain, but she dident. Right here under our nose at the Old Soldiers Home, in Sawtelle, they had forty hit by that "Jake" paralysis, thats the disease that originally started in Oklahoma, and was incidentally cured or helped at Claremore, by Radium Baths. Where is our laws in these Drug Stores that they let em sell stuff like that?

Sought Camera Men

We sure do miss Mr. Einstein out here. He was supposed to come here for a rest and wanted to be let alone. Why my goodness, he just went out of his way to find something to go to, and Pictures? Why he would go searching for a Camera man if none was around. He sure did make himself a good fellow. He seemed to be a mighty pleasant little fellow.

This writing is going to be mighty tough with no Congress to pick on. I joke about em, but you know at heart I really like the Rascals. They are all right. If one wants to do right, our political system is so arranged that he cant do it. The minute one wants to do what no one else has been accustomed to do, why they call him an Anarchist. Some of the old timers stepped out at the close of this one and that was kinder sad in a way. It must be a mighty fascinating game on those old fellows and its tough to have to bow out of the picture, and mighty few retire rich, so there must be a lot more honesty among them than we give them credit for. Well so long lets see what the new week brings forth.

"Illicit" To Play Here Four Days Beginning Sunday.

BY HALLIE HOUCK

MAGNETIC BARBARA STANWYCK, the girl who made "Ladies of Leisure" one of the best of the 1930 crop of talking pictures, has her second big opportunity in "Illicit" coming to the Ohio Sunday for a four-day run.

"Illicit" is a departure from the usual run of plays. Instead of having a Broadway stage premier, it was first produced as a talking picture and will be produced on the stage later.

James Rennie, formerly pilot in British Royal Flying Corps and famous on the stage in "Crime," "The Great Gatsby" and "Young Love," has his best screen role in this picture. Charles Butterworth, graduate of the law school of Notre Dame university and comedian extraordinary Joan Blondell, Ricardo Cortez, Natalie Moorhead and Claude Gillingwater have important roles.

Archie Mayo, Warner Bros. director, made this picture. Among his many successes have been "Sonny Boy" and "The Doorway to Hell."

• • •

"DRACULA" SENDS SHIVERS UP SPINE

Shivers tingle up and down the spines of play-goers and bookworms at the mention of "Dracula." One of the eeriest, weirdest plays on the stage, it has enjoyed a wide success, and comes to the Palace Sunday and Monday as a talking picture.

A human vampire, feeding off the emotions of other human beings. Horrible, fascinating, and hair-raising. Bela Lugosi was imported by Universal to play the leading role, supported by David Manners, Helen Chandler and Dwight Frye. Bram Stoker wrote the novel and stage play.

The stage offers three numbers on its two-day vaudeville program over the two days.

Heading the show are the Frankenberg Juvenile Wonders, two boys and two girls in a repertoire of singing and dancing. Calvert & Evans, a man and girl, offer a song, dance and comedy number and last but not least come Jimmy and Val, a team of Flying Dancers in a novelty, "Hot Feet."

JOHN GILBERT'S LATEST PICTURE COMING

Not to be downed by a mere microphone, John Gilbert's made his third talking picture, "Gentleman's Fate," coming to the Marion Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The greatly mourned Louis Wolheim has an important role and the feminine end of the story is upheld by Leila Hyams, Anita Page and Marie Prevost.

Ursula Parrott, who wrote the famous "Ex-Wife" which Norma Shearer raised to classic heights as "The Divorcee," also wrote the story of the latest Gilbert picture.

Twenty-five thousand dollars worth of emeralds were parts of the props for the M-G-M picture. The gems were brought from a vault after an attempt was made to use paste emeralds. The imitations photographed "dead" under the brilliant lights and it was necessary to use genuine stones in order to obtain the dazzling beauty of the jewels.

CONQUERING HORDE, MORE THAN USUAL WESTERN PICTURE

Story of Days Following Civil War Is Laid in Texas.

WESTERN thrillers appeal to an enthusiastic following, but many times they fail to "click" with those in the audience who do not care for "westerners." However, there occasionally comes a show from the Texas plains that appeals to everyone because of its interesting plot, its genuineness and capable players. Among these few is the "Conquering Horde," which opened last night at the Palace for a two-day run.

Richard Arlen and Fay Wray play the lead parts in a very efficient manner. The story is laid in Texas after the Civil war. Texan ranchers were hard pressed for a market for their steers. Unscrupulous men were buying large tracts of land at a few cents an acre, planning to make themselves wealthy by later developing it.

Fay Wray is a ranch owner who sees no future for her ranch until Richard Arlen sent by the government to investigate the land buying, challenges her ability to send her herd north over the plains to a railroad outlet.

Many are the difficulties encountered on the way, with Arlen acting as guide but they finally reach their destination.

Short subjects and news reels complete the Palace bill.

AID MEETS

Galion Peace Lutheran Church Group Plans for Conference.

GALION, March 14.—About 60 members of the Ladies Aid society of the Peace Lutheran church met in regular session Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. Devotionals were led by Rev. Auer and plans were made for the Ohio Central conference which will be held in this city April 21 and 22. Music was rendered by Mrs. Ralph Stoner, Mrs. George Boehm, Mrs. L. M. Liggett and Mrs. Howard Seif. Refreshments were served by Mrs. F. T. Hennerle, Mrs. P. E. Auer, Miss Emma Nungesser and Mrs. Elizabeth Weiler.

• • •

Mrs. C. I. Monroe, Jr., was a guest Thursday evening when Mrs. Eugene Liggett entertained the members of her bridge club at her home on North Union street. Bridge was played at three tables and gifts were awarded to Mrs. Glen Eckert and Mrs. W. J. Pollay. A delicious repast was served at the close. Mrs. Pat Lynch has invited the club to meet at her home in two weeks.

• • •

Mrs. Harvey Sheter was hostess to her bridge club Thursday evening with a dinner party at 7 p. m. at the Perry Sheter home north of the city. Covers were placed for 12. Guests included Mrs. C. K. Cunningham, Mrs. H. C. Dye, Mrs. H. J. Seemann, Mrs. Jack Gay and Miss Eda Ritzhaupt. The evening hours were spent at the Dye home on Boston street where three tables of bridge were in play. High score gift was won by Mrs. Seemann.

• • •

The monthly meeting of the Alpha Bible class of the First Lutheran church was held Thursday afternoon in the church basement. Mrs. Martin Dapper was in charge of the business session after which a fine program was presented including a vocal solo, Mrs. Paul Rorick, readings, Mrs. Robert Phipps, piano solos, Carol Gardner and Ruth Heiser. A potluck supper was the closing feature of the afternoon.

• • •

Mrs. George Price opened her home on South street Thursday afternoon for the monthly meeting of the Woman's guild of the Church of Christ. Devotionals were led by Mrs. W. G. Kiddey. Needlework occupied the ladies and refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Ralph Gilmore.

• • •

Mrs. R. Tamblyn was hostess Thursday afternoon to a group of guests and 35 members of the Ladies' Aid and Missionary society of the Trinity Lutheran church. Mrs. Bertha Dapper read a paper on "Christian Missions" and "Women's Missionaries" was the subject of an article read by Mrs. C. H. Helfrich. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

COMMISSION NAMES THREE COMMITTEES; ARGUES ELIGIBILITY

Board Will Make Effort To Curb Rule Violations; Donates to Charity.

APPOINTMENT of several committees and a prolonged discussion of various questions of eligibility in the Sunday school baseball lengues here occupied the major share of attention of the city baseball commission last night in a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. With the exception of the committee appointments little definite action was taken by the board.

Several members of the Sunday school basketball board attended the first part of the meeting. The purpose of the two groups meeting together was to find out if the two could work out a plan of cooperation whereby eligibility of the athletes in baseball and basketball can be better governed.

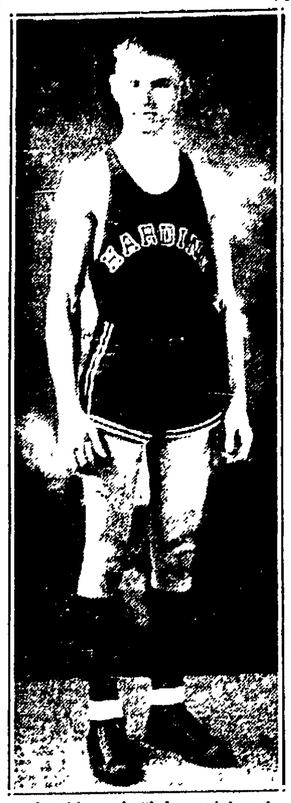

President N. E. Crissinger of the baseball commission appointed three committees. They are the purchasing, grounds and rules. On the purchasing committee he named Earl Smart, William Fablan and Leo Keller. The grounds committee is composed of William Harruff, William Martin and Homer Little. R. G. Smallwood, T. M. Cunningham, E. G. Siefert and Don Howard make up the rules committee.

The rules committee of the baseball commission will convene in conjunction with the basketball board in the near future. At this time the two will attempt to draw up rules to better regulate Sunday school athletics in Marion.

After concluding all the business relating to athletics the baseball commission unanimously voted to donate $25 to the welfare fund of the city for the purchase of leather for the repairing of needy children's shoes. This makes a total of $125 donated by the commission to the relief of the poor here this year.

A novel electric bottle warmer to heat milk for infants shuts off the current and flashes a light when the correct temperature is reached.

Seeks Title in Foul Shooting

Freddy Vestal, pictured above, Harding High's blossoming basketball star, will attempt to move into the state finals of the foul shooting tournament tonight at Delaware when he competes in the district tourney there. Vestal won the district class A event last week-end with 21 of a possible 30 shots.

Tonight Vestal will compete with the winner of the district class B division. This event will take place immediately preceding the Central district class A championship game at Edwards gym in Delaware between Columbus Central and Newark.

Vestal is a junior in Harding High school but until this season had never played as a regular on the Harding basketball team. Toward the latter part of the season Vestal turned in some flashy court work and as a result is being counted on to be one of Harding's most capable performers next season.

Coon Hunters To Hold Meeting Here March 19

The Heart of Ohio Coon Hunters' Association will sponsor a banquet and general get together of Ohio sportsmen Thursday March 19 at Schwinger's dance hall here. Between 300 and 400 are expected to go attend the affair.

J. Thompson, chief of the state fish and game department will address the meeting as will two other fish and game department officials, it was reported today. The speakers will show pictures of activities on the various state fish and game preserves.

Following the banquet and meeting a square dance will be held.

IMPROVEMENT NOTED IN TRIBE BALL CLUB

"Four-Year Plan" of Building Shows Remarkable Results in Second Year.

BY ALAN GOULD.
By The Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 14—It has been seventeen years since baseball miracles were being performed by the Boston Braves but the current "four year plan" of development, under the management of Bill McKechnie, already is showing remarkable results, in its second season.

Quietly but none the less shrewdly and effectively, McKechnie, who piloted pennant winners at Pittsburgh and St. Louis, has rebuilt the Braves and sent them out along the war path again. They were a troublesome sixth last year. With additional batting punch and better backstopping assured this year, the Tribe will be far from a set-up.

Adds Sluggers

McKechnie has added two fence-busting recruits to the outfield in Red Worthington, who hit .376 for the Rochester International last year and Wes Schulmerich, who blasted the ball for .377 in the Pacific coast league. They will flank Wally Berger, and give the Braves a wallop comparable to that of the Cubs and Robins.

McKechnie also has revamped his infield with a view to getting further punch. Earl Sheely, who led the Pacific coast league at bat with .403 last year, has returned to the big show to replace Johnny Neun at first.

At third, Bill Dresseh drafted from Springfield, Mass., where he hit for .344 has the call so far over Buster Chatham, who came up from Portland, Ore., last year.

Rabbit Still Good

The keystone combination remains intact with the hardy perennial and pepper-hot Rabbit Maranville, at short, and the brilliant Freddy McGuire at second. Chatham will understudy Maranville, the only active survivor of the 1914 championship Braves, but the Rabbit is smoking strong cigars and breathing defiance to all rivals for his regular position.

Harry (Socks) Seibold, who won 16 games last season, heads a veteran pitching staff. It includes such other experienced right handers as Bruce Cunningham, Ben Cantwell and Fred Frankhouse, along with two of the craftiest southpaws in the game, Tom Zachary and Willie Sherdel.

Al Bool, purchased from Pittsburgh, adds another potent bat to the attack. He led the Pirates in runs driven in last year. He will share the backstopping job with Al Spohrer.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS SIGN IBERIA HURLER

Emmet Curtis, Former High School Star, Gets Chance in Big League.

Special to The Star.

MT. GILEAD, March 14—Emmet Curtis of Iberia Friday night signed a contract with the St. Louis Cardinals. He will report at Danville, Illinois. Curtis is a graduate of the Iberia High school and played basketball and baseball with the school teams. In baseball he attained such success as a pitcher that it was mainly through him that the Iberia High school team fought its way into the finals of the state tournament last spring, at Columbus. He also pitched for the American Legion junior team here in 1929.

P. H. Wieland, local attorney, and friend of Branch Rickey, president of the St. Louis Cards, was the agent through which Curtis is given a change to perform in the big leagues. At Danville he is expected to play in the Three Eye league this season. The Danville club is a St. Louis baseball farm. If Curtis shows up well in Danville this year he is expected to join the Cards next spring.

Joseph Rinnert on O.W.U. Forensic Team

Joseph Rinnert of Marion was chosen as a member of the debate team which will represent Ohio Wesleyan university in a debate with Ohio State university this afternoon. Phillips Moulton of Lakewood, O., and Paul Thompson of Des Moines, Ia., were the others selected on the team with Rinnert.

This same trio will debate Carlton College in the First Broad Street M. E. church at Columbus, Monday night. The subject for the debate with Carlton will be on unemployment insurance while the meet with Ohio State will be on the athletic question. The Ohio Wesleyan team is to uphold the negative side of the question in both debates.

LOUGHRAN JABS WAY TO DECISION OVER SCHAAF OF BOSTON

Philadelphian Puts Self in Heavyweight Spotlight by Impressive Win.

BY HERBERT W. BARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, March 14—The best left hand in the business again has boosted Tommy Loughran into a contending position among the heavyweights.

The canny Philadelphian, one of the smartest of ring warriors, showered a bewildering barrage of annoying jabs on Ernie Schaaf, big and strong Bostonian, in Madison Square garden last night to win the decision hands down over a man who twice had beaten him. Some close observers took it that Loughran, by reason of his successive masterly exhibitions against Max Baer and Schaaf, together with his popularity, was in line for another shot at Jack Sharkey in an outdoor show here this summer. Sharkey knocked out the Philadelphian in three rounds in their first clash.

Loughran

The New York State Athletic commission is one of Sharkey's strongest supporters and the solons, perhaps, would not be averse to approving a Sharkey-Loughran match in opposition to the title duel between Max Schmeling and Young Stribling in June.

Stribling and Schmeling are under ban here.

Loughran jabbed Schaaf into total ineffectiveness last night, kept him off balance with jabs, used jabs as a means of opening up a path for right crosses and uppercuts. Tommy won seven of the first eight rounds but eased up in the last two rounds enough for Schaaf to gain an edge in both.

Loughran weighed 182½ to Schaaf's 200.

The Philadelphian's next engagement is with Tuffy Griffiths in Chicago, March 27.

CATHOLIC QUINTETS WILL END TOURNEY

Four Parochial Teams Remain in Fight for Cage Championship.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 14—The basketball championship of the Columbus diocese will be settled here today when four teams, survivors of the first days' play, resume activities in the third annual Knights of Columbus tournament.

Mt. Vernon St. Vincent, champion last year, Zanesville St. Thomas, Newark St. Francis and Steubenville Central are the four teams that came through Friday to enter the semi-final round of play.

Steubenville yesterday defeated Ironton and Corning; Mt. Vernon won from Coshocton and Columbus St. Mary; Zanesville downed Delaware and its sister school, Zanesville St. Nicholas while Newark triumphed over Columbus Holy Family and Portsmouth.

In the semi-finals today Steubenville and Mt. Vernon play in the top bracket and Zanesville and Newark clash in the lower, with the winners settling the diocesan championship tonight.

Pleasant Girl Cagers Given Dinner By Coach.

PROSPECT, March 14 — Miss Marian Herr, coach of the basketball team at Pleasant, entertained the girls of the team at dinner last night at 6 p. m.

The table decorations were in the form of a miniature basketball floor. The girls who are eligible to letters were awarded small silver basketballs by Miss Anderson, Miss Goettike and Miss Herr.

The evening was spent with games.

SMALL CITY QUINTETS LOSE IN CAGE PLAY

Teams from Larger Schools Advance in Basketball District Tourneys.

By International News Service.

COLUMBUS, O., March 14—The second day's district battling in the scramble for the state class A high school basketball championship opened today with at least 10 small cities having succumbed to chastisement from bigger cities.

Delaware, Sidney, Xenia, Shelby, Warren, Toronto, Cambridge, Hillsboro, Galion, Defiance and several other good teams from smaller cities followed the usual tournament tendency and lost to teams from bigger places in yesterday's games.

The day's outstanding performance, however, was Canton McKinley's win over Garfield Heights, 35 to 21, in a northeastern district game.

Canton Looks Good

A runner-up last year, Canton is estimated by many critics of being worthy of the state championship this season.

Big Toledo Waite trounced little Shelby, and Akron West drubbed Conneaut at the same tournament.

Sidney's rangy team lost to Middletown, Xenia was beaten by Cincinnati Hughes, Toronto went down before Marietta, Cambridge yielded to Zanesville and Mingo Junction was stopped by Coshocton yesterday in other games in which the big cities gobbled up the small ones.

Springfield, victor over Dayton Stivers, seven-time champion, at a Dayton tournament last week dropped out of the state competition yesterday when it fell before Hamilton, 17 to 15.

Central Is Winner

Hamilton immediately became a strong title prospect as a result. Columbus Central also was a stronger contender after a licking it gave Delaware yesterday.

Lancaster St. Mary's, by winning from New Albany at Westerville yesterday, showed that it is se-riously in the race for class B honors again. Marysville beat Powell at the same meet.

Completion of district tournaments this afternoon and tonight will narrow the field to eight teams in each class. The fortunate ones will come here next week to settle the dispute over the state championship in a tournament at the fairgrounds coliseum which will attract thousands of spectators from all parts of Ohio.

Indoor Track Season To Be Completed Tonight

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 14—The indoor track season comes to a brilliant end tonight with the Knights of Columbus games in Madison Square garden and the women's national championships at Newark.

Seven American indoor champions and six intercollegiate titleholders have entered the K. of C. meet with the Columbian mile as the feautre. The field includes Ray Conger, Leo Lermond, Gene Venzke and George Bullwinkle.

French scientists have explored the interior of the earth 31 miles below the surface for mineral deposits by using currents of electricity.

ART SHIRES ALL SET TO MOVE UP AGAIN

Talkative Ball Player Broadcasts Intention of Climbing to Majors.

By The Associated Press.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 14—Mr. Arthur Shires broadcast today that it is impossible to keep a great man down, wherefore he is due to become greater than ever despite his present sojourn in the minds and a little financial difficulty because of the business depression.

Mr. Shires arrived here yesterday, a week late, for a bit of spring training with the Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association, and announced in no uncertain tones this would be the last time he would show for a major league club.

His reason for going to Hot Springs, he said, was to start a climb back to the majors.

"The depression," said Mr. Shires, "was hard on me. In the first his present sojourn in the minors Then I lost money in a Hollywood building and loan association now in the hands of receivers.

"Then"—and this with a broad grin—"I got married."

He arrived here after driving all night with his wife. But after a few winks of sleep he was out in a Brewer uniform for practice.

Good Quality is Good Economy

Good economy means getting your money's worth. You may pay a very low price and still get poor value for your money. That's not economy! On the other hand, you may pay a somewhat higher price and receive much extra service and satisfaction that you actually secure greater value.

That's the case with Stetson Hats. The fact that more Stetsons are sold than any other hat at any price is ample testimony that when you buy a Stetson you get your money's worth!

ELECTRIC COOKERY IS CERTAIN

They used to say "good cooks are born, not made" when each stove had its own artistic temperament—and cookery was done on the "trial and error" method.

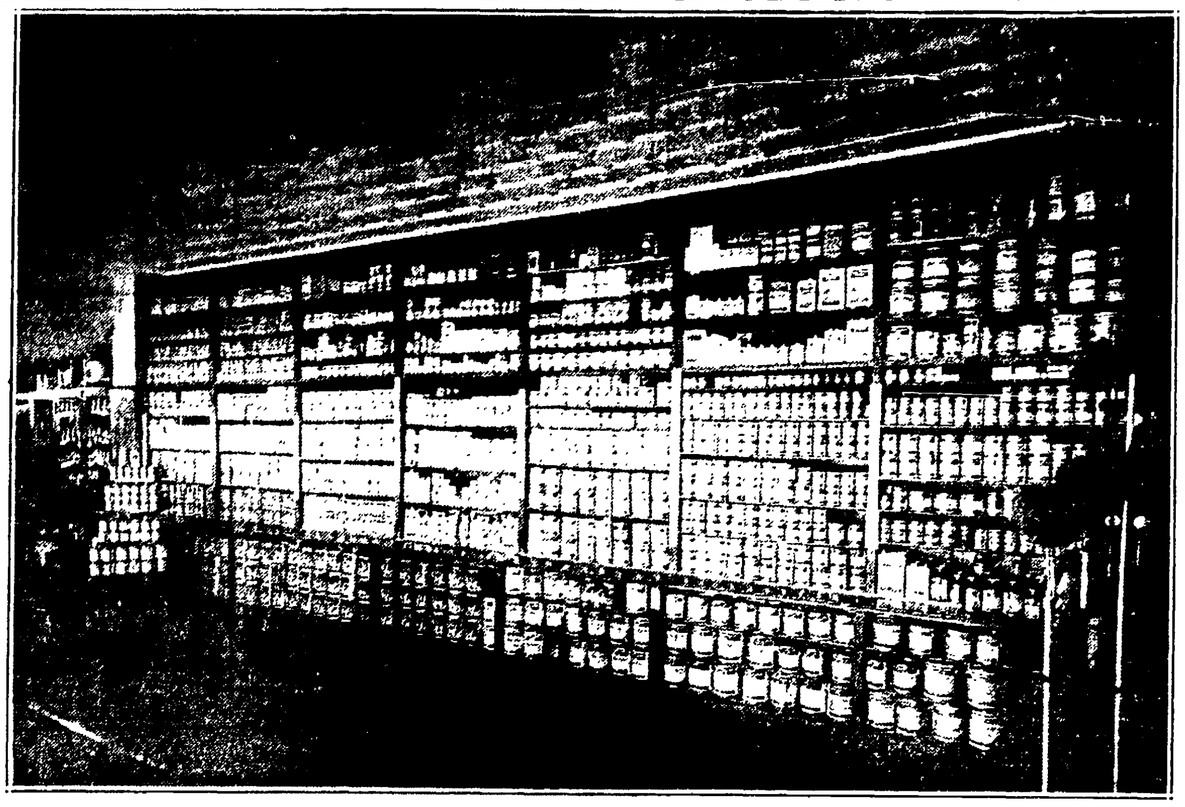

But now recipes are given with degrees of heat to be applied for certain periods. No more vague terms like "simmer slowly" or "cook until done." Cookery is a science now—not guesswork.

Electric heat can be absolutely controlled. It gives you precisely the temperature that the recipe calls for. And, with it's marvelous dial controls, you don't even have to be there to watch it.

HERE IS VIEW OF PAINT DISPLAY IN STORE

Shelves of Store Hold 17,000 Different Items

Firm Established In 1904 by H. A. Ammann, Now Headed by A. A. Van Atta; R. D. Luke Is Vice President and General Manager.

Seventeen thousand distinct and different items make up a modern hardware store, according to R. D. Luke, vice president and general manager of the Van Atta Hardware Co. In the vast assortment, however, certain major lines are ever growing in interest and popular appeal.

The Van Atta Hardware Co has had a very eventful Marion history. It was founded in 1904 by H. A. Ammann, later became known as Scribner & Van Atta and about seven years ago was changed to the Van Atta Hardware Co. A. A. Van Atta is president of the firm, R. D. Luke, vice president and general manager and O. E. Kennedy is treasurer.

Handles Good Paint

To supply good paint to the people of Marion and vicinity, is one of the chief desires of the Van Atta Hardware Co. "Paint in the can is not paint on the house," says Mr. Luke. Low price paint is "cheap" paint, made of skimpy materials. It may look like paint and smell like paint but when you put it on your house the results are tragic. Sherwin-Williams paint may cost more by the gallon, but it costs less by the job because it is 100 per cent pure paint and goes farther and wears longer than "cheap" paint. In fact Sherwin-Williams paint will wear two and one half times as long, Luke says.

A picture of the beautiful paint department of the Van Atta Store was recently run in two of the nation's leading hardware magazines, the Hardware Retailer and the Hardware Age.

Along with their unique Sherwin-Williams Paint Department Van Atta's carry a full line of Varnishes, Enamels, Lacquers and Brushes at all Times.

Plate Glass Department

Plate glass also is important in the modern hardware store. Many different sizes of glass are kept in stock at all times. This enables the firm to supply any size plate glass at very short notice. The glass in the McDaniel Motor Co. building on West Center street, as well as that in the Dugan building on East Center street, was furnished by the Van Atta Hardware Co.

The Van Atta Hardware Co. is the sole distributor in Marion for the famous Majestic all-enamel range. Mr. Luke says that many exclusive features and constructive details of this new all enamel Majestic, together with its modern cloorful beauty, make it the greatest range value ever offered. The Majestic has long been known as 'the range with the reputation" and can be purchased on a "pay as you use it" plan..

Builders Department

Builders hardware is one of the greatest department in the store In fact many of the most important building developments of Marion have looked to this store for all their hardware supplies. Rus-win hardware was supplied to such buildings as the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Lewis building, J. C. Penny Co. building and the building now occupied by the Montgomery Ward & Co. store.

Among the many other items carried by Van Atta's are Voss washers, Roper gas ranges, garden tools, Crosley radios, sporting goods of all kinds, electrical supplies and fixtures, and at Christmas time one of the largest toy departments in Marion becomes a part of this store.

Mr. Luke says, "our line is complete and you may depend on it that we will stand squarely behind the merchandise. It must give complete satisfaction."

MARION HOUSEWIVES LIKE THEIR C., D. & M. "HOTPOINT" RANGES

Indorsements of the "Hotpoint" electric kitchen range sold by the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co. are hearty. A number made by Marion users of the range follow:

Mrs. E. L. Howe, of 270 Spencer street—"I find the speed of the cooking units and the automatic oven control very satisfactory."

Mrs. Dale Miller of 725 South Prospect street—"I am particularly enthused with the thrift cooker on my range. I often place the entire meal in my cooker and thus have time for other things for the whole meal is cooked and ready when the children return from school."

Mrs. D. J. Shelton of Richland pike—"The cleanliness of my electric range is a real joy. My kitchen walls and woodwork are never covered with soot or smoke."

Mrs. P. W. Ringer of Prospect pike—"I think my electric oven is the finest of all. My pastries and rolls have an even brown crispness that can not be had in the other types of cooking equipment with which I am familiar."

Mrs. Floyd Brown of 513 Delaware avenue—"The cleanliness of my "Hotpoint" range lessens my hours of work as there is absolutely no dirt from my range."

Mrs. J. Burgin of Windsor street—"I have never had a cake failure in my "Hotpoint" oven. I use the automatic control very often. On Sunday when we return from church our meal is always deliciously cooked. We fry very little meat as the smokeless broiler pan is much better and broiled meats are excellent."

Mrs. C. A. Huston of Morral, R. F. D.—"The marvel of my range to me is the retained heat in the 'Calrod' cooking unit. I start my food cooking on the range at full heat and then shut it off entirely, cooking the last 15 or 20 minutes with the retained heat in the cooking unit. The cleanliness of electric cooking is really marvelous and I especially like the automatic timer control."

Mrs. Paul Conrad of 232 Hane avenue—"We were agreeably surprised at the economy of cooking by electricity. The cleanliness of my electric range has eliminated many weary hours that were such a drudgery before."

Mrs. K. E. Bradley of Prospect pike—"I have learned to depend upon my insulated and time controlled oven. It surely has many advantages and I find new ways to use it every day."

Mrs. J. E. Thomas of 1096 Wilson avenue—"I am particularly enthusiastic with the thrift cooker. It retains the full flavor of the food and I often prepare a complete meal without using any other part of my range except perhaps our coffee percolator."

T. H. KONKLE & SON

Marion—Richwood, Ohio

FIRM FOUNDED HERE IN 1898

Assets Reach $3,680,000; M. Waddell Is President of Organization.

In October 1898 the first directors' meeting of the Home Building, Savings & Loan Co. was held in rooms now occupied by the C. C. Fisher law office, over the Marion County bank. At this meeting Henry Ackerman was elected president and Jacob Moore, secretary.

This office was in a short time moved into rooms over the Bartlett drug store on East Center street. Here under the guidance of the first officers, the Home Building Savings & Loan Co. began to grow.

Resigns Post

In March 1900 Mr. Moore resigned his office as secretary and M. Waddell was elected to fill this vacancy. In the same year the assets of the company reached the sum of $100,000. This important event was celebrated by an oyster supper held after the directors' meeting during which the announcement had been made. The present assets of the company in round numbers are estimated at $3,680,000 which shows the marvelous growth made in just 30 years.

On Dec. 17, 1906, the company moved into the building it now occupies at 116 South Main street. H. A. True, vice president of the association, acted as president from the time of Mr. Henry Ackerman's death, Dec. 1, 1923, until the next directors' meeting was held. In Jan. 1924 Mr. Waddell was elected president. His son, Roy Waddell, was elected to fill the position of secretary which his father had held since 1900. Both of these men retain the same positions today. The other members of the personnel are Hayes Thompson, attorney, C. W. Biddle, Mary G. Heininger and Katherine Tuttle, bookkeepers.

The Home Building, Savings & Loan Co. is proud of the fact that for years Warren G. Harding was one of the directors of the association. He held this office until the time of his death.

Although living conditions have changed to a great extent since the founding of this institution, the value of a dollar saved has always been the same. One of the main ambitions of the officers of this association is to teach the people of Marion the importance of thrift

Teach Saving

Saving money can be accomplished by purchasing a home of your own. By obligating yourself in this manner you not only save paying rent, but you are investing your money in property which invariably increases in value as the town in which you live grows, officers of the company point out.

Under present day conditions of travel and living it is important that people think of the future, as the first officers of this association did in placing firm business foundations on which to build this institution.

It is of great importance to yourself that you open a savings account here and make deposits regularly. Any of the officers will be glad to assist you in budgeting your income so that it will be easy for you to save a portion of every pay.

INTERIOR OF LOAN CO. OFFICES

Now Is Time to Build, Loan Company Heads Say

Leaders of the building, loan and savings movement in Ohio, as spring approaches, are urging those with investment capital to at least investigate the possibility for profit and sound investment in local real estate before placing their funds otherwise.

Here's the real estate picture in Ohio as gleaned from an analysis made by the heads of some 800 home financing institutions. "This not only is the most propitious time in the last 10 years to build a home but the most advantageous in the last decade to buy one already constructed."

Costs Are Down

It is variously established that building costs are down from 12 to 18 per cent on ordinary construction from the high point of 1929, and in some sections of the state some types are down 20 per cent, the building and loan survey shows.

Figures gleaned here and there throughout Ohio indicate that the prospective builder may pick up a lot cheaper now than a year ago. Disregarding the manifest fact that choice residential frontage can be picked up rather frequently and the consequent reduction in the whole cost of home building, many are finding in their local community the opportunity to build a house which in 1929 would have cost $10,000 at a present cost of approximately $8,500.

Leaders of the building and loan movement in Ohio, through James A. Devine, secretary of the Ohio Building Association League, point out another element entering into home building at this time that is decidedly worth knowing. It has to do with workmanship. In a period of depression the tendency of employers is to hold the best men. In taking on new men the best are chosen from the list available. If one realizes that his home is a highly complicated mechanism, Devine points out, the assembly of which may follow any of the myriad ways that always attend workmanship of mechanical products, then this present opportunity will present new values not expressed in price. There is an old saying that a poor workman never did a good job. The opposite is also true—a good workman will never do a poor job.

Devine pointed out that building and loan companies had backed their faith in real estate with their finances. With total assets of $1,300,000,000, Ohio building, loan and savings companies have loaned approximately 90 per cent on first mortgage collateral on real estate, mostly homes. With a record for safety unexcelled by any other financial group, through good and bad times, building and loan associations, according to Devine, have proven the stability of real estate from an investment standpoint.

Fewer than ten per cent of the homes in Bulgaria are wired for electricity.

REAL ESTATE BOARD WILL STUDY FEES

Head of National Association Names Group To Investigate Situation.

A committee on commissions and fees, which will make a study of realty commission schedules of 600 real estate boards is announced today by President Harry S. Kissell, of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The committee will determine to what extent variation, now exist in commission schedules throughout the country, will work out the best methods of building a schedule of charges, and will consider the practical aspects of a national or standard schedule for real estate men.

Machinery for building commission schedules may be developed by this committee, that will be helpful to the association member boards even though specific rates are not included, according to Kissell.

The committee may consider the value to the realty profession of adopting "at least a more standardized" basis of compensation for real estate dealers, according to Kissell, who cited the benefits to the architectural profession in the development of their standardized rates.

An air tunnel large enough to test the effect of air currents on airplanes of full size will be erected at a government flying field in Virginia.

STOCKS SHOW SLIGHT GAINS

Four-Day Downward Drift Checked; Closing Tone Firm.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 14— Bears took the moderate profits afforded by a four-day downward drift of prices in today's week-end session of the stock market and their repurchases jacked up the list one to three points

Speculators for the rise again put forward some of their favorites in the utilities division, and gave Radio Corp a whirl in the last few minutes getting it up 3 points, one of its widest gains of the year. Trading in the two-hour session showed little change from the pace of preceding days, the transfers aggregating 1,000,000 shares. The closing tone was firm

The late whirl in Radio Corp looked like a drive against shorts. While this corporation's annual report showed almost nothing earned on the common stock, the fact that was able in the last quarter to wipe out a deficit after payment of preferred dividends incurred during the first three quarters of last year has taken the edge off bear arguments in this stock. Furthermore rumors of an early acquisition of Columbia Graphophone are heard, although that is an old story

Both motor and merchandising issues showed group strength. Latest reports from motor circles remain fairly cheerful, with the veteran loans and the approach of spring driving weather helping retail sales. Furthermore chain store sales reports for February have been fairly satisfactory in view of the lower prices.

The week-end estimate of steel mill operations for the Youngstown area next week shows a small from 50 to 51 percent of capacity. Dividend announcements on Saturday are rare but reduction of White Motors annual rate from $2 to $1 appeared in the news.

Money rates are expected to feel the influence of the release of funds by a government overdraft next week. Uncle Sam pays out funds faster than they come in for a few days after quarterly tax settlements, after making a temporary overdraft at the reserve banks

GRAIN PRICES AGAIN LOWER

Liverpool Downturns Reflect Adversely on Chicago Wheat Quotations.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 14— Fresh downturns in grain prices took place early today, reflecting declines in Liverpool wheat quotations. Operating as a counterbalance, however, were reports that the peak of the Australian wheat crop movement had been reached. Starting unchanged to ⅛ cent lower, wheat afterward sagged all around. Corn opened unchanged to ⅛ cent off and subsequently held near to the initial figure.

Strengthening of grains after slight setbacks were opinions that world wheat appeared to have steadied at a price level which reflected the burden of big supplies. It was also asserted that surplus stock would probably go into consumption gradually at not far from present levels. European advices said the weather in most trans-Atlantic countries this week has been extra cold with much snow, and that acreages in some parts would be smaller than last year.

Announcement by the grain stabilization corporation that United States wheat export plans were resulting in almost daily sales both to Europe and Asia tended further to unhold the market. It was explained that the volume of exports was already beginning to show in the United States clearances. Corn and oats steadied with wheat after an early show of weakness. It was reported that downstate Illinois industries were bidding 1 to 1½ cents higher than the Chicago basis for No. 3 yellow corn.

Scantiness of offerings strengthened the provision market

BUTTER, EGGS UP AS FEATURE OF MARKET

Demand of Hatcheries Sends Price of Produce Higher Here.

Increases in butter and egg prices and an ever-increasing supply of green and fresh produce featured this week's activity in the retail grocery markets.

Eggs gained slightly to end at quotations of 24 to 28 cents a dozen. The demand created by the hatchery season is responsible for a sudden shortage which boosted prices.

Butter prices gained nearly two cents this week to land at quotations of 26 to 39 cents a pound.

Florida and Texas truck farms are producing a plentiful supply of green vegetables for the local market.

Strawberries are scarce, although the first berries arrived several weeks ago. After opening the season at 30 to 35 cents a pint, they dropped to 25 and 30 cents a pint. They are now back up to opening quotations.

Young Soprano Will Sing Over N B C Sunday

GRACE MOORE the young Tennessee soprano whose achievements in musical comedy and grand opera in the United States and Europe and whose singing motion pictures have made her famous, will be heard in the Atwater Kent Orchestra directed by Josef Pasternack.

Miss Moore in 10 years achieved most of the great goals for sopranos, including the acclaim of the Paris grand opera audiences for her singing of the distinctly Parisian role of "Mimi" and "La Boheme." Her debut with the Metropolitan Opera company also was made in this part. She first attracted attention as co-artist in concert, in Washington, D. C., with Giovanni Martinelli, tenor.

This brought her opportunity to set Broadway ringing with her praises in musical comedy, her work in the "Music Box Revue" and "Hitchy Koo" being two outstanding achievements. After study in Europe, grand opera came next, then singing pictures. During this last season she has been especially prominent in concert throughout America.

EASTER PLANS TAKING FORM

Churches Busy on Programs as Lenten Season Reaches Half-Way Mark.

Plans for Holy Week and Easter services are under way in several churches here as the Lenten season passes the half-way mark. St. Paul's Episcopal church will continue with its program of Wednesday mid-week services and Friday night addresses on "The Development of Christian Worship."

On Good Friday, April 3, Rev. S. S. Hardy, rector, will conduct the Three Hours Devotion with addresses on the "Seven Last Words" from 1 m. until 3 p. m. On Easter Sunday Holy Communion will be taken at 7:30 a. m. and a full choral Eucharist with sermon will be at 10:30 a. m. An hour for the children's Easter services will be announced later.

Rev. B. Tyler Gates, pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran church will hold Holy Week services with addresses on "Lessons from the Cross." Wednesday night Lenten services next week will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lindsey of 195 Lake street.

Emanuel's Lutheran church is planning four special services for Holy Week, bringing to a close a series of 10 special mid-week services held in the Lenten season. Rev. J. W. Schillinger, pastor, has arranged his services around the general theme of "The Blood of Jesus Speaketh."

Rev. Fr. William J. Spickerman will deliver a Wednesday night Lenten sermon at St. Mary's Catholic church, followed by benediction.

LIST OF REASONS FOR CHURCH GOING

Ministerial Association Continues Pre-Easter Attendance Drive.

Seven reasons why everyone should attend the public worship of God, have been outlined by the evangelistic committee of the Marion County Ministerial association as a part of the pre-Easter County Wide Go to Church campaign.

Listed below are the reasons advanced by the committee:

1. To please my God.
2. To satisfy my conscience.
3. To set a good example.
4. To sing His praise.
5. To hear the Gospel.
6. To fit me for life's duties.
7. To prepare me for heaven.

The churches are making an effort in the Lenten season to increase interest in church going and to set a record for Easter Sunday Sunday school and church attendance.

GUEST SPEAKER

Evangelical Church Worker To Appear in Local Services.

Daily Proverb—"A physician is an angel when employed, but a devil when one must pay him."

Advices from Lima, yesterday, were to the effect that another revolution threatens Peru. There can no longer be question. Starting revolutions has become a habit down there.

A New York City doctor has sued one of his patients for $150,000 for services rendered between August 3, 1929, and May 5 of last year. His patient must have been mighty sick.

The danger in drinking Jamaica ginger, government scientists explain, is that unscrupulous producers add "triorthocresyl" to make it taste like whisky. No wonder "jake" causes paralysis if they are adding stuff with a name like that!

The Illinois house of representatives is defending the "fair name" of the city of Chicago. Now if somebody will vouch for the standing of the Illinois house of representatives we will be able to figure on the worth of its defense.

As the result of a quarrel over a bridge game, a husband and wife prominent in the society life of Kansas City, Missouri, have been divorced. Scarcely a day passes that there isn't added evidence that bridge is a menace to conjugal felicity.

One scientist says that a small quantity of alcohol quickly affects people of intelligence, while another insists that people of intelligence do not drink it. Contemplate the two views and draw your own conclusions.

From the state department in Washington comes the statement that this government is not opposed to the Franco-Italian naval pact. Why should it be in the light of the assurance that the suggestion of the United States, that the agreement be drawn as an understanding collateral to the London naval treaty, is being adopted?

It is cheering to read that German unemployment decreased something like 19,000 during the last fortnight, cheering because western Europe may have to rely on Germany to prevent the western spread of bolshevism, a possibility which as yet, western Europe doesn't appear thoroughly to recognize, judging by the repressive measures employed against the "Fatherland."

Rear Admiral Byrd is reported in a dispatch from Miami, Florida, to be planning another voyage to the south polar regions, eight or nine months hence. Admitting the possibility of acquiring increased scientific knowledge, it is a cinch that the edge has been taken off the news interest of such a voyage.

According to an eastern magazine a confidential poll of 200 members of the new congress shows that more than two-thirds of them favor repeal or modification of the eighteenth amendment, which doesn't necessarily mean anything. In a confidential poll members of congress may vote as they drink, but that doesn't mean, as has been demonstrated, that they will vote wet on the floors of the senate and house.

The President's Coming.

No matter what may be the exact date chosen by President Hoover for the official dedication of the Harding memorial, the assurance that it will be near the middle of June, is very pleasing to the people of this city.

The announcement that the President would dedicate the memorial in the late spring or early summer was pleasing, but the later message from the White House that his visit would be near the half-day mark in June was doubly so. Out in this section of Ohio, June weather almost without exception has been delightful over a long term of years. It is seldom, if ever, that the temperature is either overly warm or unduly cool, and clear skies and balmy breezes have been the rule during many Junes for years in the past.

But the selected month for the President's coming is regarded here as more than ordinarily propitious for the reason that June, of all the months of the year, is the one during which our city is physically at its best. It is in June that our lawns are at the maximum of their beauty, their green yet untouched by the heat of summer suns. It is in June that our shrubbery and shade trees are yet fresh in their newly-developed leafage, and our bloom is then more charming in its colors, tints and tones than at any other season of the year.

There are seasons when visitors within the city boundaries can hardly be much impressed by the appearance of Marion, but this is not so in June. Those who come to us in that month pay the outdoor beauty of our city the tribute of their praise.

For a Safe and Sane Fourth.

After twenty years of agitation for a state measure of the kind, the lower house of the general assembly has finally passed a bill for the furtherance of a safe and sane Fourth. The bill, which has gone to the senate for the consideration of that body, does not prohibit fireworks, but rather controls and regulates their size; the amount of explosive in them; how, when and where they may be exposed for sale, and when they may be used. It is not the intention to take the noise and red fire out of the celebration of the Fourth, its purpose being to eliminate in very great degree the danger of fireworks to person and property. The bill, if it becomes a law, will not become effective until next year.

Under the provisions of the bill, the dangerous blank cartridge pistol, the paper balloon which goes aloft under the power furnished by some inflammable substance, the annoying torpedo with fuse attached and skyrockets over a pound in size are outlawed. Paper cap pistols using ammunition containing over .35 grains of explosive, fountains throwing a display more than ten feet high and firecrackers over three inches long, three-quarters of an inch in diameter and containing more than one and one-half grains of powder are also barred. The sale of fireworks, under the bill's provisions, is limited to the period between June 25 and July 5 and their use is limited from two days before to two days after July 4, excepting when that date falls on Sunday—when they may be used an extra day. Sales of fireworks to children under twelve are barred.

The sale of fireworks in this city has been barred by ordinance so long that the only ones our citizens have seen or heard on the Fourth for years were those bootlegged in and surreptitiously exploded. The result is that we of Marion have grown to assume that a similar situation existed in the other municipalities of the state, and that the deaths, injuries and fire losses reported from various population centers in the state in connection with the celebrating of the Fourth were due to accidents in the handling of the limited supplies of fireworks bootlegged into them. Frankly, it is very probable that but few of us were aware of the fact that our state was without a law adequately regulating their sale and use. Since it has developed that the state lacks such a law and that many municipalities are without the safeguards which have been established locally by ordinance, all of us are naturally interested in this house bill and hope for its enactment, although it probably will be without effect locally. Human life and the members of the human body are too valuable to be exposed to the menace of dangerous fireworks, and there is no justification for the use of fireworks at the risk of the destruction of property by fire or explosion.

The bill of Representative Beard, of Dayton, should be made a law.

The Ohio house bill providing that five days must elapse between the filing of the application and the granting of a marriage license, which was defeated by one vote Monday, was reconsidered and passed Tuesday by a vote of sixty-eight to fifty-two, a number of members who had cast adverse votes the first day the bill came up having concluded that marriage is "a serious matter." Huh. Any married man could have told them that it isn't any joking matter.

Making Ends Meet.

This is an anxious week-end for Uncle Sam. Monday, March 16, is the last day for filing income tax returns for last year. On the figures that will be written on thousands of tax blanks and bank checks between now and then depends, to a large extent, the total of federal revenues. How great will the effect of the depression be? How great will the federal deficit be?

The last session of congress, the most expensive ever held, disregarded the President's budget message recommendations to the extent of approximately $300,000,000, appropriating around $5,200,000,000 to be spent during the fiscal year that will begin July 1. It was a half billion dollars more than was appropriated last year.

Meanwhile, federal revenues will be at least $400,000,000 less than last year. Customs receipts are down, and income tax returns are bound to be smaller. In the annual report of the treasury department issued early in December, Secretary Mellon predicted a deficit of $185,000,000 for this year. His statement was considered conservative then, and most estimates now place the deficit closer to $500,000,000. Higher taxes on large incomes may be expected when congress meets again.

The anticipated deficit can be overcome to some extent by reducing the emergency fund and curtailing debt payments. Short-term securities also may be issued, but all these devices are but postponements of the inevitable. The piper has to be paid some time.

The disbanding of the seventy-first congress allows business to breathe more easily because billions of dollars are not being dispersed with a liberal hand by the federal legislators. Some one has to worry about making ends meet—and business usually is that some one.

According to the report of a traveler in Russia, there is intense rivalry among the janitors of Moscow's hotels to see which can use the least amount of fuel. Come to think of it, we have seen it stated in type that the same rivalry exists among the janitors of apartment-houses in our big cities.

The owners of a Mexican silver mine plan to turn it over to their workers with the idea of permitting the latter to demonstrate what improvement they can make in handling it, firm in the belief that the workers will speedily be glad to turn it back to them, its present owners. There is many a business and many an industry which would show, under a like experiment, that something in addition to the actual physical labor involved is necessary to its success.

"In this age of biography," remarks William Lyon Phelps, "it is getting so that a good man is afraid to die." It's a cinch that he is taking an awful chance. If the so-called debunkers do not make him out a weakling, a saphead, a villian or a traitor, some fool biographer is liable to overdo the thing by trying to make him out a hero and a superman.

WAR-TIME ECONOMIC POLICIES.

The government commission considering war-time economic policies starts with the assumption that profiteering is unjust and demoralizing. It weighs the merits of various proposals looking to effective mobilization of industry, with excessive profits for producers or essential materials eliminated.

Bernard M. Baruch recently expressed the opinion that government control of prices was the most likely answer to the question. Under his plan a government commission would determine what constitutes a fair price for essential commodities. Sales above the prescribed figure would be unlawful.

This is by no means a new thought. At the time of the war the prices of some commodities were practically determined in the way Baruch suggests. But in many cases price-fixing was ineffective from the point of view for which it was intended. For government fair prices were set at figures designed to bring out increasing supplies, and proved to be highly profitable for many producers.

Newton D. Baker tells the commission no practical arrangement could be made for the future as far as war-time prices are concerned because conditions change, and because the needs of the future can not be anticipated. He expresses the opinion that the voluntary cooperation of business executives would probably go further to eliminate excessive profits than legislative enactments prescribing fair prices.

With this point of view a majority will agree.

Many, however, will not follow the former secretary of war in his contention that the conscription of labor for industrial occupations in war time is unsound. They see no essential difference in merit between the man who is operating a machine gun at the front and the one who is producing munitions for it in Pittsburgh or Cleveland

If profit is to be eliminated from war and if the inequality which develops as a result of it are to be eliminated something will have to be done to put the soldier and the industrial worker on a more nearly equal plane.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE GENEROUS MR. BORAH.

It is undeniable that Senator Borah is big-hearted. So big-hearted is he, in fact, that he is ready to give to the wheat farmers of America enough of the taxpayors' money to make them prosperous. But this is a specious brand of generosity—one that may not appeal to taxpayers.

At the conference of Progressives in Washington the senator from Idaho has indorsed the debenture plan for exporting wheat and other crops. In substance, this is a plan to pay a bounty on all wheat exported from this country—bounty which would cost some $300,000,000 a year to begin with, and would mount steadily as production increased.

Mr. Borah, whatever his ideas on other matters, is the champion of sectional interests in reference to agriculture. He advocates the taxing of a great majority of the population to subsidize a single industry—grains and cotton—and thus equalize agriculture and other lines of production.

Not only is Borah's revived debenture plan grossly unfair to the mass of the American people, but in addition it is wholly uneconomic and unworkable. Stimulation of grain and cotton production by an artificial bounty is perhaps the greatest single blow that could be struck at the American economic system. It would lead us into a vicious circle of greater output, higher taxes, larger production, still higher taxes to pay growing bounties.

Until some positive, fool-proof check on grain production is brought forward, a bounty plan like Borah's is not worth the paper on which it is written. The federal farm board's work has been a costly mistake. Borah's debenture scheme would be the farm board error multiplied by ten.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Chronic Bronchitis.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

An ailment familiar to most persons is that common condition called chronic bronchitis. It is an affection which follows repeated attacks of acute bronchitis. It is frequently seen in chronic sufferers from asthma, heart disease, gout, or kidney disease. Elderly people are particularly subject to it.

The condition often confuses the lay public. They fear they are dealing with tuberculosis. This impression is formed because of the persistence of coughing.

It is misleading, it must be admitted, because the victim of chronic bronchitis will cough up blood. This symptom is not a sign of tuberculosis disease. It is due to the chronic irritation of the membranes, produced by the bronchitis.

In elderly individuals there is usually a definite shortness of breath. This is more noticeable on exertion and particularly in climbing steps or hills.

The cough is always present. It is variable and changes with the weather and season. The cough may disappear during the summer. Without fail it will appear again in the succeeding winter.

This condition is usually found in adults. However, chronic bronchitis may attack children. In the young, it is commonly associated with enlarged tonsils and adenoids.

Such children are mouth breathers. They are thin and undernourished. Because of the latter, too, it is often confused with tuberculosis.

As a rule, the general health in chronic bronchitis may be excellent. But, even so, it is a handicap because of its constant annoyance and the increased liability to other diseases.

Many cases of chronic bronchitis are insurable. Others are entirely relieved by a change of climate. A southern latitude, particularly a dry as well as warm locality, is always desirable.

It is important to determine if some local or constitutional condition underlies it. This is particularly important in children with abnormal tonsils and adenoids.

Removal of associated causes often brings about a complete cure. In other cases, care and attention to the associated condition bring relief and comfort.

This is particularly true where chronic bronchitis is associated with heart disease, kidney, or other organic defect. Treatment directed to the control of the more serious disturbance will improve the bronchitis.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

E. L. H. Q—What causes dizziness?

A—This may be due to a circulatory disturbance, to an eye or ear condition, or to some intestinal disturbance. An examination will determine the exact cause and then definite treatment can be prescribed.

• • •

A CONSTANT READER. Q—What causes a buzzing in the ears—this is more noticeable at night, when all is quiet, than at any other time? What treatment would prove helpful?

A—This may be due to a catarrhal condition, to nervousness, or to your blood pressure. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

• • •

P. D. Q—Is there a cure for pimples and blackheads?

A—Proper diet and regular elimination should bring about results in this case.

• • •

K. L. H. Q—My mother's knee is swollen on the knee cap and looks like it might be full of water. What do you advise?

2—How can I gain weight?

A—You should have her consult a doctor for proper treatment. Sometimes the knee requires tapping for the removal of the fluid.

2—Proper dieting and deep breathing are the secret. You should eat nourishing foods and have plenty of sleep, rest and fresh air and sunshine.

• • •

A. A. A. Q—What can I do to avoid constipation?

A—Eat simple, well cooked food at regular hours. Avoid unduly rich fats and starches.

• • •

R. L. Q—What causes small, ruptured blood vessels? What can be done for them?

A—These blemishes are usually due to undue strain or exertion upon the parts involved. There is no definite cure, but you might consult a skin specialist for his opinion and advice.—Copyright, 1931, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

"What Is Life?"

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

In the biological sciences, including medicine, the most fundamental of all researches concerns itself with the problem of life, What is life? How does it come about? How are we able to maintain life? What are the prime ingredients and life-forces of tissue? It is with such fundamentals as these that scientists of the stamp of Alexis Carrel and Jacques Loeb have occupied themselves. By Carrel's amazing discoveries in this field, he has won a reputation of the highest rank and international eminence.

Carrel was born in Lyons, France, in 1873. And here, in the hospital and university, he served and studied and carried on experimental and research work. At the age of thirty-two he came to the United States; and seven years later he was distinguished by being the first American to receive the Nobel prize for important contributions in the field of medicine.

Carrel's most important and spectacular achievement was to grow animal tissue. The growth and stimulus of living tissue is of the first importance in medicine, since its counteracts the effects of disease. A disciple of Leenwenhoek and of Paul Ehrt, Carrel set out to show, as he believed, that tissues really grow outside the organism in a condition of latent life. Various fragments—pieces of skin, blood vessels, periosteum from chicks—were placed in a refrigerator in various mixtures at a low temperature. These fragments lived and grew!

Another notable discovery was the proper proportion of adult chicken plasma and the juice of a chicken embryo to mix together, as a medium for best stimulating strains of connective tissue and causing them to multiply indefinitely. Two parts of the former to one part of the latter proves amazingly. Eventually he was able to keep cells multiplying outside the organism for three years. On one case, he grafted a section of the artery of a man to that of a dog. Four years later it was performing its functions perfectly. He has gone even further: separating the organs from a living animal, he suspended them in liquid and keep them alive and performing their normal functions for more than thirteen hours.

During the World war, Dr. Carrel, long associated with the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York City, entered the French service. In conjunction with Dr. H. D. Dakin, of England, he perfected a remarkable technic for healing wounds known as the "Carrel-Dakin method." Dakin discovered the neutral solution of hyperchlorite of lime as a potent antiseptic in the treatment of infected wounds; and Carrel perfected the technic and apparatus for this treatment. The Carrel-Dakin method has been called the greatest surgical discovery since the days of Lister.—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

Wild Animals in Ohio.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

The question is frequently asked: "When did the big game disappear from Ohio?" The buffalo, once plentiful in all the Ohio valley, left with the coming of the white man. Probably few, if any, were to be found on what is now the soil of Ohio after the opening of the nineteenth century. Bear were found here when the first settlers came, and interfered seriously with the pioneer farmers' livestock, but Bruin did not stand long in the order of going. A non mountainous country is never preferred by the bear, anyhow, but to the mountains he clings firmly, as witness the fact that bears are to be found in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and New York still. So also is the deer. An uncle of the writer, who lived on the Olentangy north of Union cemetery, believed that he killed the last deer in Franklin county. He shot it near Westerville in the spring of 1858.

Wolves remained as long as extensive woods survived the woodsman's axe, but they were vigorously hunted and their numbers dwindled. However, they must have been numerous enough still in 1857 to be troublesome, for the legislature that year authorized the payment of bounties on their scalps.

An old hunter, long since dead, showed the writer a scar on a large beech tree standing where Upper Arlington is situated, which was made by a bullet he fired at a deer about 1845.

There probably is not a wild turkey in Ohio now, but they were to be seen in many parts of the state within the memory of those now living. The writer saw a flock of four—the only wild turkeys he ever saw—within six miles of the statehouse about 1875, and might have shot one of them but for the fact that he feared they might prove to be tame turkeys, the property of neighbors, and delayed firing until in alarm they took flight and left no doubt as to their character.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, March 14—There's something a bit sportsmanlike in this change of position between those two Panamanians—Dr. Ricardo Alfaro and Dr. Harmodio Arias.

Or so it would seem on the surface, at any rate.

Alfaro is now president of Panama. Until a few weeks ago he presided over his country's legation in Washington. Arias has just been appointed minister of Panama to the United States.

Until Alfaro took over the presidency, Arias served as provisional head of his government following the revolt of January 2.

Arias was credited in some quarters with engineering the revolt which resulted in the change of their two positions. He has denied this, however, declaring that:

"My participation was limited to an attempt to satisfy the aspirations of the citizens who gave me their confidence • • • until Dr. Alfaro assumed the presidency."

• • •

A comparatively young man, about the age of Alfaro, who is his friend of long standing, Arias comes to Washington late in March with a brilliant record behind him.

He was only twenty-six years old and just out of the University of London with a degree as doctor of laws when he was made under-secretary of foreign affairs, his first public office. He held this post only a few months when he resigned to enter the private practice of law.

He has gone far in the legal profession. His degree of doctor of laws was confirmed by a thesis, "The Contributions of Latin America to the Development of International Law." Since then he has come to be regarded, with Dr. Alfaro, as an outstanding student in this field.

He has served as member of the nations codifying commission. In 1920 he was his country's delegate to the first assembly of the League of Nations.

• • •

His honorary offices include membership in the Society of the American Institute of International Law, membership in the Panamanian Society of International Law, and membership in the Academy of History of both Venezuela and Argentina.

He has ventured into diplomacy before, serving as his country's minister to Argentina in 1921.

Dr. Arias is married and the father of five children.

His friends describe him as a great lawyer and a great patriot, a man whose opinion has been often sought by his country in matters of supreme national interest.

Ohio Aviatrix Braves Cold To Set New Altitude Mark

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., March 14—A business woman who is just as efficient in the air as in the office today claimed to have broken the women's altitude record by more than half a mile.

Miss Frankie Renner, 30, who ordinarily is known as secretary-treasurer of the Robbins Flying service, took her Waco biplane up through a howling gale and numbing cold yesterday to a ceiling estimated by the weather bureau at 33,000 feet.

Miss Renner was ready to nose into the clouds again today if official examination did not bear out her claims of a new altitude record.

If calibration of her barograph sustains her claims, she easily will have surpassed the record of 30,064 feet claimed only eight days ago by Miss Ruth Nichols, Rye, N. Y., society girl. Her airmeter stopped recording at 28,000 feet.

Miss Renner came down after four hours and four minutes showing little effects of her ordeal.

"A couple of my toes froze, but after I was down a while they felt all right," she said. Her gums bled a little and her ears "crackled some" in the 50-below zero weather she encontered.

Otherwise she had no trouble. The plane and motor worked so well she just set the controls and let it climb while she busied herself with calculations and notations. She carried a special oxygen supply and kept warm with three suits of heavy underclothing, two sweaters, two pairs of woolen stockings, a pair of mocassins, a flying suit and an oxygen helmet.

"It wasn't so terribly cold," she maintained, with all that clothing, despite her numbed feet. Mist froze on her goggles and it was hard to see, but the skies were clear and she soared in the cold sunshine.

Miss Renner began fying four years ago and has 200 hours to her credit.

FEW CLUES FOUND IN HUGE JEWEL THEFT

Police Grope for Solution to Million-Dollar Palm Beach Robbery.

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 14—Police groped in virtual darkness today for clews to lead them to approximately one million dollars worth of diamonds and pearls that disappeared in the largest jewel robbery within the memory of this wealthy resort.

The gems were taken from the local branch of Charlton & Company, New York jewelers. Neither Otto Wegener, local manager; D. H. Odom, night watchman, nor J. Shuler, employe of the firm, gave the authorities any tangible clues.

The burglary apparently occurred at the one hour of the day in which no watchman was on duty.

Wegener told the investigators he was kidnaped by four men Thursday night who forced him to deliver the keys and combination under threat of his life.

Wegener said four men, who had addressed him as "Otto" seized him

DISEASE SPREADS

Diphtheria Gains in Alaskan City Despite Doctors' Efforts

By The Associated Press.

POINT BARROW, Alaska, March 14—The diphtheria scourge had the upper hand again here today, but Dr. Henry Griest of the Presbyterian mission hospital and his wife were fighting back with renewed spirit and an additional supply of antitoxin.

The number of serious cases had mounted to 24, the only hospital was overflowing and the disease was spreading rapidly. Some of the patients were expected to die. Immunization of the entire population, about 300 natives and a dozen whites, was being rushed with all possible speed.

The new supply of serum was brought here from Fairbanks yesterday by Joe Crosson, aviator. He made a previous flight here with antitoxin and fruits last Sunday.

AIM AT COALITION FOR 1932 ELECTION

Democrats and Independents in G. O. P. Ranks Work Toward Union

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 14 — Ambitious Democrats and independent Republicans are working toward a union of ideas they hope will give them political supremacy in 1932.

Their underground courtship broke to the surface again yesterday in a manner not especially pleasing to old-line G. O. P. members, to whom the Progressives have been ever troublesome.

Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, who thinks the country should have a Progressive President, announced his only hope is with the Democratic party. Senator Hull, Democrat of Tennessee, had the same idea, describing what he thinks are similarities in the policies of the two groups.

Norris wants "another Roosevelt" in the White House. He declined yesterday, however, to name the candidate he would like to see Democrats nominate. He said if Owen D. Young were chosen, he and other independents would have to "go fishing." He concedes the nomination of President Hoover for a second term.

Hull did not commit himself on a presidential nominee. He limited his statement to agreeing with Norris that a third party is inadvisable and to saving numerous policies suggested by Progressives at their conference here earlier this week "were in complete harmony with the course and attitude . . . of the great Democratic rank and file."

Others, though, were more outspoken. Senator Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas, said if the Democrats did not choose his colleague, Senator Robinson, he would like to see Governor Roosevelt of New York, in the race. Norris has explained he did not have that governor in mind when he mentioned "another Roosevelt." He conceded that interpretation could be made.

Just Things

BY EDNA S. DUTTON

Courtesies

THE days of chivalry are not a thing of the past if folks who happened to be down on West Center street one day last week, can believe their eyes. If you are a frequenter of the sector around Hotel Harding you know the hazards of crossing the street. She was one of those charming older women who one guessed had a well-filled cookie jar on her pantry shelf, could make good tea and was the owner of a well behaved cat, but when it came to negotiating the street crossing she was not so sure of herself. She would start from the curb but before she could make the other side either a car would round the corner or the light change and back to the curb she scuttled. It was the owner of a car bearing an out of the state license tag that saw her predicament and it took him only a split second to stop his car, signal traffic to stop and escort the woman across to the other side of the street. Raising his hat and bidding his companion goodday he was soon on his way and it's a sure-fire bet that if his safe arrival at his destination depended on the good wishes of the recipient of his courtesy, his was a sunny journey the rest of the way.

Seeds

TIMES have changed if one is to believe the tales of those who recount the days when huge packages of seeds came to the village postoffice from the government and the seed houses vied with one another in seeing who could send out the most brilliant catalogues. Such tomatoes, turnips, potatoes and all the rest of the fruits of the vegetable kingdom, and then after making your mouth fairly water you might feast your eyes on the loveliest of roses and other blooms and then you spent the rest of the evening making your flower garden. Usually the siege didn't last long but what an upsetting time there was while it was raging.

Signs

DID you note that one morning this week you did not have to patronize the electric light folks when you donned your work-a-day togs? Perhaps you don't have to at any time but to those who for months have been venturing forth into a horizon savoring of yawning graveyards and a maze of folks who don't say anything but just look it was an event. Then too, there are some birds other than the sparrows on the wing now but so far, all this observer knows about them is that they have an early morning tune which ends with a trill.

President Names Greenwood P.-T.A. Aid Committee

A WELFARE committee with Miss Clara Kowalke as chairman was named by Mrs. Frank M. Knapp, president of the Greenwood Parent-Teacher's association at a meeting yesterday afternoon at the school. The committee includes the eight "room mothers," Mrs. R. F. Fletcher, Mrs. Ray R. King, Mrs. Paul Schwemley, Mrs. C. E. Gifford, Mrs. E. O. Fields, Mrs. Walter Shealey, Mrs. Harry Hastings and Mrs. B. R. Pritchard.

Dr. C. E. Turley, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, gave the association an interesting talk on "A Better Marion." During his talk, the women of the association took notes on ways of bettering conditions in the city, and these were turned over to Mrs. Knapp to assist her in filling out the questionnaire sent the association by Dr. Carl W. Sawyer.

The Mother Singers of the South Side Community club entertained with two songs, "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Drink To Me Only with Thine Eyes," after which the women joined in singing the P.-T. A. song. Harold and Margaret Denzer gave two violin and piano numbers. Both are sixth grade pupils. Harold also gave two piano solos, "Friska" from "The Hungarian Rhapsody" and "Narcissus."

Mrs. Roy Gottschall was appointed chairman of a committee to revise the constitution of the Greenwood association, with Mrs. Clyde Houpt and Mrs. C. W. Marriot as committee members. Mrs. J. C. Turner and Mrs. Knapp gave reports on a recent district P.-T. A. meeting at Columbus. Pictures to the rooms with the most mothers present, went to the first and sixth grades.

The association is planning for a cafeteria supper March 20. Officers for the year will be elected at an annual meeting April 10.

The Two Vultures

The ... irruption of Mr. John ... into the peaceful current ... the Monastey had num... consequences.

... think you do...The young ... relatives...when they be... ...rs...I mean, when they ... will have various little ... ing bills to settle. Heirs ... Tradesmen's accounts. ... lawyers' fees. Undertakers' ... Doctor's fees...In this ... fees must be fairly heavy."

... case?"

... Adoo lowered his voice to ... and, with a quick shifty ... meeting for a second the ... bing stare of Dr. Char... eyes, replied:

"Marjorie Lauderdell's case..."

"What are you driving at, my worthy friend?" asked the doctor. "D'you mean you aren't satisfied with our financial arrangement and want a bigger bonus or a bigger salary...or what?"

"Oh, I'm perfectly satisfied with my share and my salary. I am not one to go back on an agreement. Especially a 'gentleman's contract' between men of honor . . . Oh, no. I'd never do that, Charters."

"Cut all that right out," growled Dr. Charters, "and say what's biting you?...What's the game?"

Dr. Emanuel MacAdoo again glanced at his partner, or employer, and again quickly looked away.

"When I accepted your offer and terms," he repeated, "I accepted them. Yes. Once and for all. And I am not one to go back on an agreement. ... But I think that in very special cases—there might be ... er ... some ..." and paused to gnaw a finger-nail.

"Some?" prompted Dr. Charters as his hand closed on the long round ruler of heavy black ebony.

"Some subsidiary arrangement Something outside the ordinary routine of work."

"What 'special' cases, as you call them, are outside the ordinary routine of work"

"Well—this case is. This case of Marjorie Lauderdell. You know what your instructions were to me when her guardians brought her here . . And now you've taken the case out of my hands ... and I want my share of the ... er ... fee ..."

"What d'you mean? ... Have you gone mad too? ... Don't you get your share of all the fees?"

"Yes. All the ordinary fees—that go through the secretary's books. But this one won't—and I want my share. I should have done the work and earned the fee if you hadn't taken the case out of my hands, and I'm ready to take the case back . . . and do the work . . . and have my fair share of the fee."

"Look here, Manoel my lad, I'm not a very patient man, and if there's one thing I can't stand, it's a fool. . . . And any man who butts in on my business is surely a fool. You aren't actually coming to me and standing on your professional dignity—as though you were Studley or that pompous old fool Bernard Matthieson—are you? . . . You know quite well why I switched the girl over to . . ."

"Yes. I do know why you took my patient out of . . ."

"And the reason?" asked Dr. Charters, the look on his face and the tone of his voice clear danger-signals to the blindest and most deaf.

"Oh, ten thousand reasons!" answered MacAdoo meaningly, and sprang to his feet swiftly as he looked up and saw Dr. Charters' face—now anything but inscrutable.

That gentleman, his countenance a picture of astonished bewilderment struggling with rage, rose to his feet, the heavy ruler in his hand.

"How did you know?" he whispered. "Who told you?"

"Ah! You see I was right! . . . Ten thousand . . . And I want my share," chattered Dr. MacAdoo, retreating behind the arm-chair and in the direction of the door.

"I only want my proper and lawful fair share. Or perhaps just a little more—as it is a special case, and should by rights have been left in my hands. I think it's only . . ."

"Here—sit down. I'm not going to hurt you," interrupted D. Charters. "Now then—where d'you get this 'ten thousand' stuff?"

"Oh, never mind where I got it, doctor—that's of no interest. It isn't as though I knew nothing whatever about it . . . . Though, even then, some people might think that our agreement—being a 'gentleman's contract' too—would cover everything."

"Cut it out," interrupted Dr. Charters, who had been eyeing his colleague with thoughtful concentration. "Where d'you get this "ten thousand' stuff? Who told you one word about this girl's case, except myself?"

"Oh, a little bird," smiled Dr. MacAdoo.

Dr. Charters again showed himself a man of self-restraint.

"See here," he said quietly, "You don't know me, even yet, evidently. . . . But I'll mention that no man ever double-crossed me and got away with it. . . ."

"Are you threatening me, doctor?" interrupted Machado.

"No. I never threaten. I merely mention a fact. I am a very bad man to cross—though I am afraid there is on one, who has crossed me whom I can give as a reference. They don't survive. Get me? . . . Now, then, answer the truth. Who has said a word to you about Marjorie Lauderdell?"

To Be Continued.

The Ladies' Aid society of St. Joseph's church held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday at the church cottage. At noon a covered dish luncheon was served. The time was spent with quilting and other needlework.

• • •

The 10-night evangelistic services sponsored by the M. E. churches in this district and conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. P. Dougherty at the local church closed Thursday night. Rev. A. E. Anderson, superintendent of the Mansfield district, delivered the closing sermon. A mixed quartet from West Oxford church contributed a song, "Will You Pray." Miss Margaret Trefz sang a solo "Do Something for Jesus." A friendship greeting closed the service.

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

SATURDAY. When I had got up this morning and had let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth, and had put on my short britches and went down and milked the dummed brutes and went in the house my father was in the kitchen with my mother, and while I was straining the milk he said, "I don't like it any better than you do." Then my mother asted him why he didn't do something about it then, and my father said he would. Then he said my unkle would probly get him a job soon and everything would be all right. Then my mother told him that Banty's mother had foamed her and told her that Banty's father had offered my unkle a job helping paint six new houses if he would join the union, and my unkle told him that he wanted to look around a little while before he accepted anything, and anyhow he didn't believe in letting any union tell him what to do. Then my father looked supprized and said he would go and have a talk with him, and my unkle wasn't up yet so he went in his room, and they both came out while we were eating breakfast, and my unkle had on some old clothes, and he said he would go and join the union right away and go to work, and everyone looked pleased. Then my unkle said it cost five dollars to join and he didn't have any money. My father said he didn't have either. Then my grandfather said he would lend him five, and my unkle said, "I suppose you couldn't make it ten?" My grandfather said, "You are a grand supposer," and handed him five dollars, so my unkle finished feeding his face and put on his hat and went.

We all went out to the stink factory, and the men were dragging a dead horse in to be skun with a tractor and we got on the horse and rid till the man hollered for us to get off. So then we went out to Rocky River, but there aren't any mud turkles out, or snakes, so we skinned a lot of slippery ellum off a tree and chewed it and dug up some sassafras roots and chewed the bark off of them. Then I had to go home to milk and a little while after my father got home my unkle came and my father asted him how he liked his job, and he said on his way to the job he met a man he knowed, who told him of a dandy job that would be open pretty soon and that he could get it for him. My father asted him if he had joined the union and he said he hadn't and my grandfather said he would relieve him of his five dollars, and my unkle said he spent it buying a dinner for the man that was going to get him the job. My grandfather snorted and my father looked sick, and I was going to stick around to see what they said to each other, but my father told me to go to bed, so I did. I would have got blamed for something if I had sot up.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge's Father Retells the Story of His "Great Mistake."

LILLIAN rose from her chair quietly as my father spoke the words "My little comforter!" It was a movement I had known she would make, and approved the delicacy which had made her wait for a few seconds after she had spoken of "bringing an old wrong into the open." Lillian never does things crudely, but she is always most effective.

"Dear Chief!" she said softly, "whatever this is, it lies between you and Madge. Won't you let me—"

He had risen with her, and with a tender smile he put his hands upon her shoulders and put her back into her chair.

"We have been associated too long, my dear, for you to have qualms about anything I wish to discuss with any one," he said. "And you are Margaret's dearest friend. Now I will answer the question I would not permit you to finish. No, I will not let you go away. I wish you to stay right here. Do I make myself clear?"

A Heart Made Lighter

His lips curved whimsically, and I saw that for a second his burden had lightened. It is not the first time I have seen a heavy heart made lighter, just by looking at Lillian's face so full of cheerfulness, comfort and strength.

"Perfectly, she returned, answering his smile. "And I obey."

"You both know," he began, "that when you, Margaret, were four years old, I fled from my home, my wife and my child, with the woman whom your mother had counted as her dearest friend."

"Is it necessary to torture yourself with the recital of that, Father?" I remonstrated, but the quick warning pressure of Lillian's hand silenced me.

"Yes, it is," he returned with decision, "but I am not going to tell you anything which happened after that dastardly act. You, both of you, know the story of my wanderings, of my coming to myself after the devil had been cast out of me, for if ever a man had demoniac possession, I had nothing else could explain my betrayal of a love and trust that"

He stopped and put his hand over his eyes as if to shut a vision at which he no longer could look. I stirred uneasily, but again the pressure of Lillian's fingers warned me against any further protest.

"Enough of that," he said after a little, lowering his hand. But he did not look at either of us as he went on speaking. Instead, stared off into space as if he were seeing something "holden from our eyes."

"I am going back to the first years of my marriage with your mother, Margaret. You are marvelously like her in features, hair and coloring, so like her, that when I first saw you that night when you were dining with your husband, I almost cried out because I knew that my long quest was ended, and that I had found the daughter whom I had lost for so long.

"Your mother was much shorter, however, and slighter, a very Titania of a woman. But oh! the warm golden heart of her, big enough to hold all the world wrapped in her divine sympathy.

"We were married several years before you came to us, Margaret. We lost a little son when he was only a few weeks old, but the sorrow only drew us the closer together.

"I often have thought, since, that your mother was too sweet, too trusting. I do not believe it is in any man's nature to be worthy of such absolute trust was as hers. I used to say to her sometimes in those early days: 'Have you such faith in me then, my darling?' and looking up at me shyly she would reply:

"'That is my name, you know, Faith.'"

"And it was. 'Margaret Faith she was named, as you of course know.'"

He turned his eyes to me with the words:

"No, I didn't know," I said, troubled because I knew that what he could read in my words would hurt him. "I always thought she had only one Christian name."

He gave a stifled little groan.

"That must have been because she could not bear to hear the name spoken," he said.

I sat very still and the sense of an eagerly listening presence grew stronger.

"How I rewarded my 'Faith' you know. There was no excuse for me. After you came, she naturally devoted much more time to you than she did to me, and like a spoiled child I resented it. I had plenty of time on my hands and the devil in the form of a woman did the rest. The faith of my Faith never wavered until I killed it with my flight.

"For years I could not bear to hear that name. But as I got closer to the border where perhaps one day I may see your mother again, my old name for her comes back to me.

"Do you know now, Margaret, what I want to name your baby daughter?"
